WESTERN HILLS HIGH SCHOOL, CINCINNATI, OHIO

THIS IS MY SCHOOL . . .

*"This is my school,
I sing her glory to the sky,
I shout her praises loud and high,
This is my school."*

*"This is my school,
She stands for light,
She stands for truth,
A shining symbol to our youth,
This is my school."*

WESTERN HILLS HIGH SCHOOL

Cincinnati, Ohio

THIS BEAUTIFUL BUILDING IS MINE . . .

The pathways, the trees, the shrubs,
The play fields,
The murals in the hall,
The bandroom, the auditorium, the stage,
The lunchroom, the new gym, the swimming pool,
The offices, the library, the classrooms,
The shops, the business machines,
These are the outward signs
Of the school that is within.

These are mine—

. . . MINE TO USE . . .

... TO ENJOY ... TO REMEMBER ...

THESE SUNLIT DAYS ARE MINE . . .

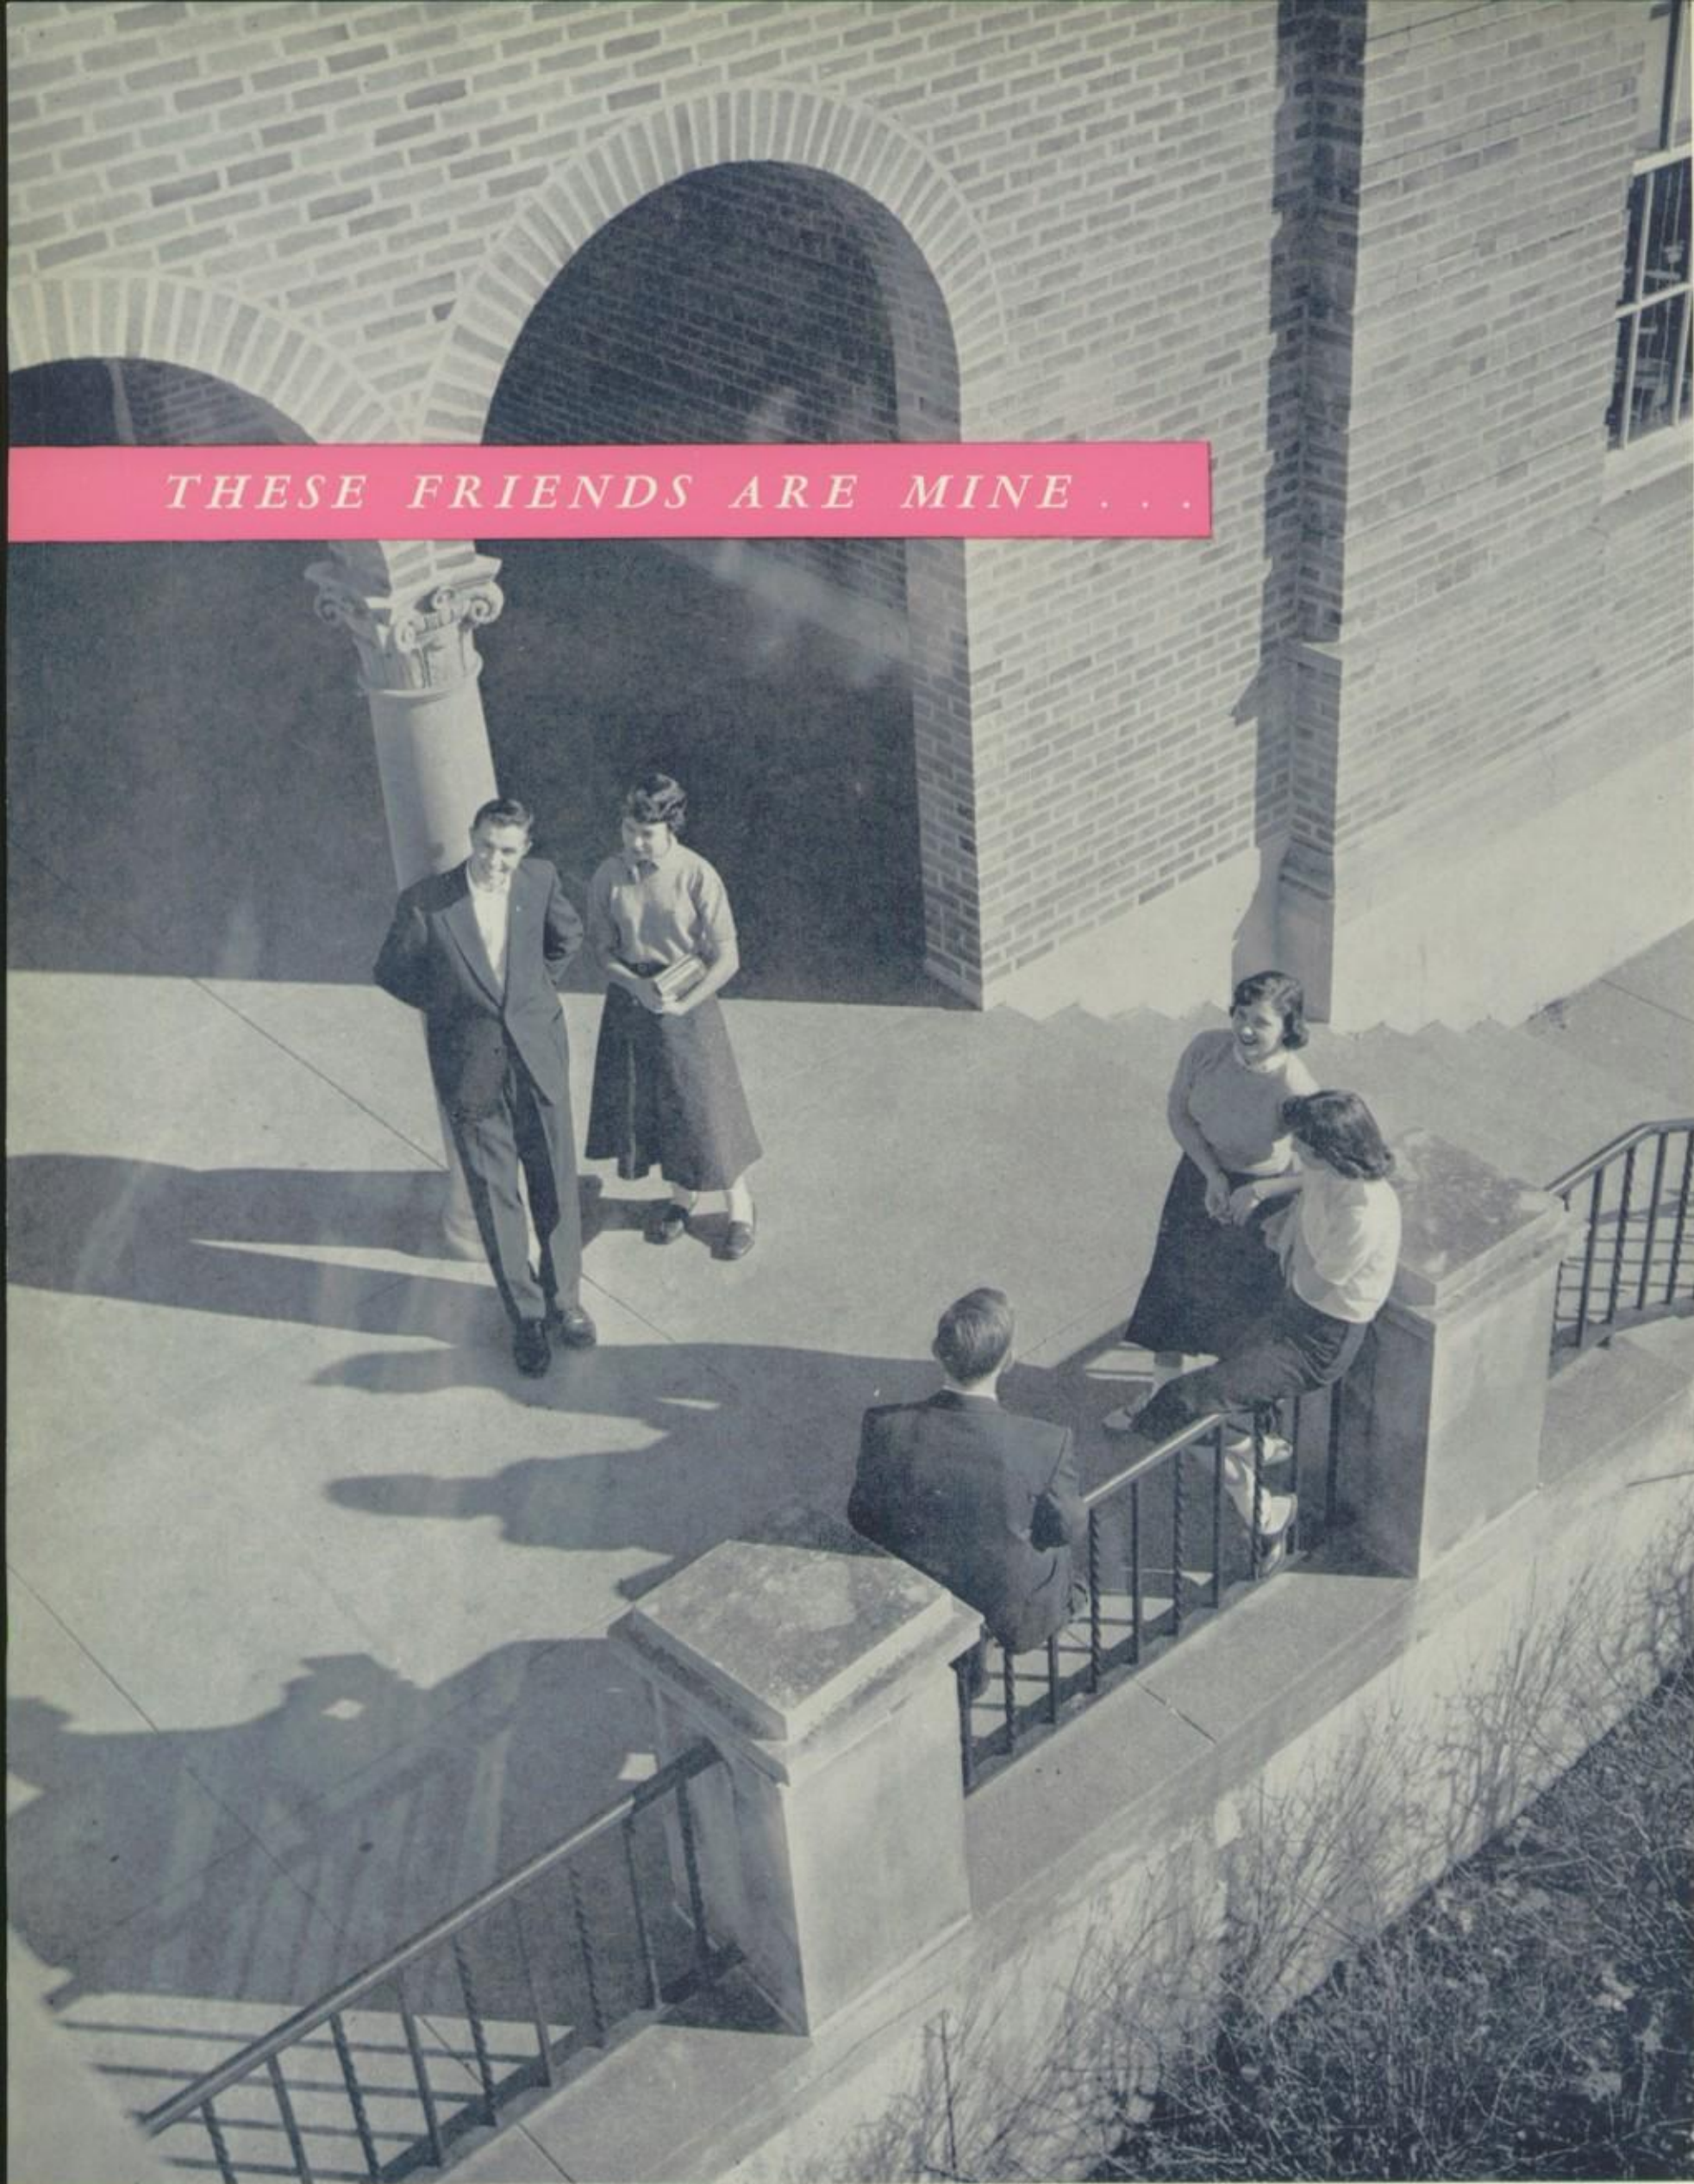

MINE TO GROW . .

TO REACH OUT . . . TO LEARN . . .

THESE FRIENDS ARE MINE . . .

MINE TO PLAY WITH . . . TO KNOW . . . TO LOVE . . .

THESE TEACHERS ARE MINE . . .

MINE TO ADMIRE, TO HONOR, TO RESPECT . . .

ALL THIS EXISTS FOR ME ALONE . . .

Handwritten musical score for the song "This Is My School". The score is written on multiple staves, including vocal lines and piano accompaniment. The lyrics are: "This is my school, I sing her glory to the sky, Let us shout her praises loud and high, This is my school." The score includes various musical notations such as treble and bass clefs, time signatures, and dynamic markings like "rit." (ritardando) and "a tempo". There are also handwritten notes like "8va" and "8m". The piano part features complex chordal textures and triplets.

Mr. Andrew J. Brady at work on the original composition, This Is My School

Mr. Brady's song instills in us new pride in our school

Western Hills has always been fortunate in having a fine musical tradition. From the first days, when the band was organized almost before the doors were opened, to the present, when the band, orchestra, and a cappella choirs have achieved a standard of superb excellence, there has been a continual wealth of original composition. First, there was the beautiful Alma Mater composed by Mrs. B. H. Siehl, the wife of our first principal. Then there was the stirring Battle Song composed by Gus Beiser, father of our own Dave. There have been other original compositions planned for special occasions, but these two have withstood the test of time, and now we feel that Mr. Brady has added a third all-time favorite with This Is My School.

When Mr. Brady composed the words and music of the song This Is My School for the finale of the 1954

Bandwagon, he touched a spot in every pupil's heart. Not one could hear that inspiring music and reflect upon the challenging words without feeling a new surge of pride in his school. We are deeply grateful to Mr. Brady for calling forth that surge of pride which has lain dormant in our hearts. We are grateful to him also for the many other original compositions he has prepared for our band and orchestra during the eleven years he has been at Western Hills, and for the generous and unstinting devotion he has given these organizations.

In the days that are to come, we may forget a little of what we have learned here, but we shall never hear the magnificent strains of This Is My School without feeling a lump come into our throats as it recalls to us the wonderful years we have spent within these walls. Thank you, Mr. Brady.

Western Hills—

Western Hills High School is largely the product of the dreams of two men, Mr. Siehl and Mr. Cadwallader. Mr. Siehl dreamed of a school "on the hills" long before it was actually built. It was his untiring efforts which gave the school its fine start. He was present at the laying of the cornerstone; he was principal for seventeen years; and this year he participated in the dedication of the new gym. We are grateful for his continued interest in spite of his many duties as a member of the Board of Education.

Mr. Cadwallader is carrying on the fine traditions set by Mr. Siehl. His busy day is filled with a thousand administrative details. One can find him on hand almost any morning by 7:30. During the day he sees countless people, makes many reports, and seldom leaves before 4:30 or 5:00. He often returns to school in the evening to attend committee meetings and student activities. Yet, in spite of all these pressing demands, he is always calm and friendly.

The dream of two great men

MR. BENJAMIN H. SIEHL

MR. RAYBURN W. CADWALLADER

One of Mr. Cadwallader's interests and activities is the Student-Teacher-Parent Board. This unique organization provides a "clearing house" for the opinions of students, teachers, and parents. It has proved effective in helping to solve current, important problems by recommending appropriate action. Pictured above are representative members of the board: Tom Mercer, Carol Brech, Mrs. Lester Francis, Mr. Cadwallader, Dave Beiser, president, and Mr. Heinold.

Mr. Cad participates in many school activities

Our principal is one of the busiest men we know. His day is one continuous round of conferences, committee meetings, and telephone calls. He is in touch with every aspect of our huge school of 2600 pupils and 100 teachers. In spite of his pressing schedule, he still finds time to take part in student activities. He is usually the first customer at West Hi's perennial bake sales; he is an ardent rooter at all the games; and he seldom misses a class supper, student dance, or banquet. Even more important than this, is the fact that he is always available with his wise judgment to give help to a pupil. He is, indeed, a friend to all and a beloved principal.

Mr. Cad at a bake sale

Mr. Cadwallader and Miss Klaserner congratulate the Western Hills pupils who placed in the NEPH contest, Jackie Bauer, Lois Becker, Ray Lockwood, Bob Hessel, and Joyce Miller.

MR. HAVLOVIC

"Busy" is certainly the only word to describe Mr. Havlovic's day. Besides lightening Mr. Cad's burden by taking care of many important details, he has many responsibilities of his own. He oversees the issuing of textbooks, supervises the bookshop, and is also in charge of the maintenance and issuing of lockers. A great deal of his time is spent in working with the counselors and taking care of the emergencies that arise. The greatest percentage of Mr. Havlovic's time is occupied with the problem of discipline. Even those pupils, however, who come under his stern rebuke, seldom take offense because of his wonderful manner in dealing with people. His keen sense of humor and antics often amuse the office girls. Mr. Havlovic is more than assistant principal; he is everyone's friend.

West Hi's friendly counselors offer friendly advice

Orchids to our wonderful junior and senior counselor, Mrs. Heninger. Although she is busy as a little bee scheduling programs, administering tests, and compiling information on careers, vocations, college requirements and scholarships, she is never too busy to lend a sympathetic ear and a helping hand to a troubled pupil. Her understanding of the problems confronting upperclassmen makes them realize that she is more than just a counselor; she is a valuable friend.

"Excellent" is the word to describe the job Miss Hanauer has done in her first year as counselor at West Hi. Her day is filled with such duties as assisting ninth and tenth graders with educational and vocational plans and arranging conferences between parents and teachers. Yet, with all of these responsibilities, she is kind and courteous to everyone.

"I don't do anything. I'm a lazy man," says Mr. Geer, but somehow he finds time to plan the Orientation program, take care of academic failures, plan vocational units with the eighth grade social studies teachers, conduct a homeroom, teach dancing to the seventh graders, and sponsor the Magic Club.

Beauty contest winners? No—West Hi's secretaries

What's this? Lunch, flowers, cake, candy, pie, cheesecake! Why, of course. It's National Secretaries Week and we are honoring our hard-working secretaries, Betty Teepe, Barbara Ottlinger, Mildred Huseman, and Marian Rothert. Actually the girls have little time to relax. Mildred is head of the office staff and treasurer. Every afternoon she can be found in the treasurer's office, checking the school's finances. Betty and Barbara make Mr. Cadwallader's and Mr. Havlovic's jobs easier by taking care of many important details. Marion, who is the secretary for the counselors, is especially busy in the spring checking options and making out transcripts. As busy as they are, however, they are always cheerful and helpful.

Shown in Miss Burk's living room discussing Student Council plans are Evie Yamaguchi, Miss Burk, Bob Bothwell, Tom Spackman, and Bud Herzog.

Student Council's early planning shows results in a successful year

Our school day is so busy that many committees meet at night at the homes of pupils or teachers. Few people realize the time after school that both teachers and pupils spend on school activities. Our Student Council is no exception. Tom Spackman, president; Bud Herzog, vice-president; Bob Bothwell, secretary; and Evie Yamaguchi, treasurer; spent many summer evenings at the home of Miss Burk rewriting the constitution and planning for the coming year.

Student Council co-ordinates the various activities of the school and brings the teachers and the student body closer together. Through the efforts of Student Council, each pupil at West Hi has a voice in making the policies of the school.

J. Miller, H. Hohnecker, W. Radcliffe, J. Schaal, K. Springmyer.

Student Council has active year—sponsors many fine projects

Yea, Maroons! Yea, Mustangs! Rah! Rah! Rah! It has a new sound, doesn't it? The addition of a new name to our athletic nomenclature was one of the biggest projects of Student Council this year. For sometime there had been a growing demand for a team name used with the Maroons which could be shown in a symbol. In a poll of the entire school, the pupils indicated that their choice of a new athletic name was "Mustangs." Publicity was held back for a "conditioning period" this year, but beginning next fall, there will be cheers and pennants using the new name.

Tom Mercer, Martie Hayes, Terry Williams, Doreen Spackman.

Christmas wouldn't be Christmas without Student Council's huge tree in the front hall which has become a tradition at Western Hills.

Shown decorating the tree are the Junior Division officers John Babbs, Marlene Chinn, Carol Cottingham, and Nancy Heisel.

THIS IS MY SCHOOL

"In this beautiful building of cold and hard materials, I spend several years of my life . . . formative years that are most important to my future. In these rooms I spend many hours . . . sometimes happy, sometimes not so happy, but all warm hours, in which I make and lose friends, learn and forget facts, laugh and cry, work and play . . . and out of it all I learn to live with my fellow man and to respect the wisdom of my elders."

DAYS FOR STUDY

First movement
Adagio

At Western Hills, we are fortunate in that we have the opportunity to spend our "formative years" in a democratic school where an informal atmosphere, pleasant classrooms, and accommodating teachers make learning attractive. We are fortunate in having classes suited to our interests and abilities. Perhaps that is why our Days for Study are happy ones.

We learn to speak . . . to write . . . to listen

We learn many valuable lessons during our school days, lessons that cannot be taught through books. We learn how to be good sports, we develop our cultural capacities, we acquire manners and social grace, we mature emotionally, ". . . and out of it all we learn to live with our fellow men and to respect the wisdom of our elders." This is priceless schooling, but without the knowledge gained from the academic classes our formal education would not be complete.

As early as the first grade we have our first encounter with English, the basis of all our learning. During these early years of our education we learn to read. As our vocabulary gradually increases, the immense field of literature opens before us. We become more open-minded as we are able to experience the feelings, emotions, and ideas of people in all walks of life, in ages past and in the present time, in foreign lands and in our own United States.

In addition to our wonderful library and excellent literature classes, Western Hills offers such courses as public speaking, dramatics, speech, and journalism. Pictured above is Miss Baechle's business English class where future secretaries and stenographers prepare themselves more fully for their careers.

Adeptness in English reaps rewards for aspiring students

Western Hills students do not limit their achievements to the classroom only. To the right are pictured Milton Halloran, senior, and Judy Borcharding, eighth grade, who have applied their learnings in English toward winning essay contests. Milt won first prize for TB and Conservation essays, for which he received twenty-five dollars and a trip to a historic spot in Ohio. He holds an issue of the Breeze in which appeared a copy of his essay. Judy received ten dollars for a third prize essay on What I Can Do to Keep America Great.

Jo Ann Box shows social studies maps made in the art classes to Betsy Nimitz, David Reeves, and Norma Pritchard.

Social studies opens the door to a better world

Rare is the class that boasts a television set, tape recorder, movie projector, radio, and phonograph. Ambitious students in Mr. Fouch's classes have earned these rewards by diligently collecting tax stamps. Taking advantage of this modern equipment are S. Piper, E. Wolber, J. Sampson, and R. Kaiser.

Modern facilities enliven classroom sessions

Through the study of history we learn how men have lived; through the study of geography we learn how men are living, and why they live as they do; and through the study of current events we learn the problems confronting the world today. As the part of the United States in world affairs becomes ever greater, we realize the immense importance of social studies classes in our schools, and are grateful for the guidance of good teachers.

Junior high pupils study geography and history

Today's schools strive to give each student an understanding of the social order in which he lives, enabling him to see more clearly the reasons for the behavior and customs of people from all races and religions. In these times of hostile and poverty-stricken nations, the dream of world peace seems distant and remote. Only through better understanding of human nature can we improve this situation. This understanding is offered in the fields of sociology, civics, history, and economics.

In the picture above, Miss Suter's social studies class follows the progress of our nation through its industries.

The world of science is solely responsible for our great miracle drugs, x-rays, anatomical findings, and other new discoveries in the medical field, discoveries that lengthen our lives and make them more healthy. West Hi students keep up to date on these discoveries through classes in biology and zoology. In the picture on the opposite page, Mr. Thomas and a few students examine fungi on one of their fun-filled field trips, while above, we see Mr. Heather, a popular substitute, and a

Whether one takes zoology, and spends his time on a hard chair in the lab bisecting a foul-smelling frog, or whether he takes biology, and finds himself on soft, dewy grass, surrounded by the scent of flowers, he is sure to gain a satisfactory background in the field of biological sciences.

Tomorrow's progress depends on today's science students

Polymers and paraldehyde, synthetics and silicones, methylamine and metallurgy, formaldehyde and fructose . . . sound like Greek? Well, not quite—just a few of the terms that West Hi's industrious chemistry students have added to their rapidly increasing vocabulary. Despite troublesome formulas and disagreeable odors, students enjoy chemistry and realize the importance of training in this subject. Besides being necessary for various college entrance requirements, it also provides a practical background for such careers as nursing, engineering, medicine, pharmacy, home economics, and various teaching fields.

The amazingly complex structure of the human body continues to be a source of wonderment to West Hi's physiology students. These students discover that even the smallest function of their bodies is more intricate than any of man's most precise machinery.

New accelerated math class challenges sophomores

Some students will use their math training for small, everyday tasks, only. Other students will use their math to earn a living; they will be engineers, chemists, teachers, or mathematicians. No matter how it is used, however, math is a very necessary subject, and certainly a subject not underrated at West Hi. Here, there are various advantages offered the mathematically talented students. For example, if one has the aptitude, he may enter Mrs. Walter's advanced math unit, pictured below. This cheerful group will learn five years of math in four, advancing beyond trigonometry and solid geometry into calculus, and other higher math.

Well, then if the first two spherical triangles are the polar triangle of the second, then the second—nope, that's not it either. We might as well face it. The girl above is not using algebra or solid geometry to total that lunch in the teachers' lunchroom; she's using plain, good, old-fashioned arithmetic. Yet, arithmetic is math; so this is a golden example of math's coming in handy. Besides, she had to get an A in plane geometry to get the job!

Thirst for knowledge leads to study of languages

Mrs. Fouch's first year French class.

Salvete! Buenos dias, amigos. Comment allez-vous? Guten Morgen—in other words, greetings, my friends, from the language students of Western Hills.

Such facility with foreign phrases is a common skill acquired in Latin, Spanish, French, and German classes. Every first-year pupil knows the joy of speaking simple phrases and singing catchy tunes in his chosen foreign language. It's fun to go to language class, to learn about the customs of a foreign land, to broaden one's thinking, and to meet the challenge of disciplined study.

It is even more fun to belong to a language club where speakers, films, and parties enliven monthly meetings. At the meetings of the Romance Language Club one may hear the meeting called to order in both French and Spanish by presidents Burton Osborne and Sandra Bierbaum. Even the minutes are read in both languages. Besides the informative programs, the members indulge in activities that are strictly for fun. For instance, at the Language Christmas Party, members presented a skit which compared French, Spanish and American Christmases. Written and directed by Mrs. Fouch, the play proved humorous and interesting.

Language classes and clubs thus increase our understanding of our neighbors across the sea, and, in so doing, open new horizons for the development of world peace.

Latin students have fun at picnics, parties and banquets

"Don't take Latin, it's a dead language." This familiar refrain might be heard from any high schooler who has not studied the Latin language. If one should ask a member of the Latin Club, however, he would learn that at West Hi, Latin is both alive and fun.

According to Bill Backus, president, and Miss Bolan, sponsor, the purpose of the club is having fun in Latin. Ask any Latin clubber whether he's had fun, and with sparkling eyes he'll remind you of the party at Bill's easy-to-reach schoolhouse, the language Christmas party at which Latin students entertained members of the French, German and Spanish clubs with a Latin play and carols, the hilarious Valentine party, Latin Week, the annual Spring Picnic, and the reknowned Latin Club banquet.

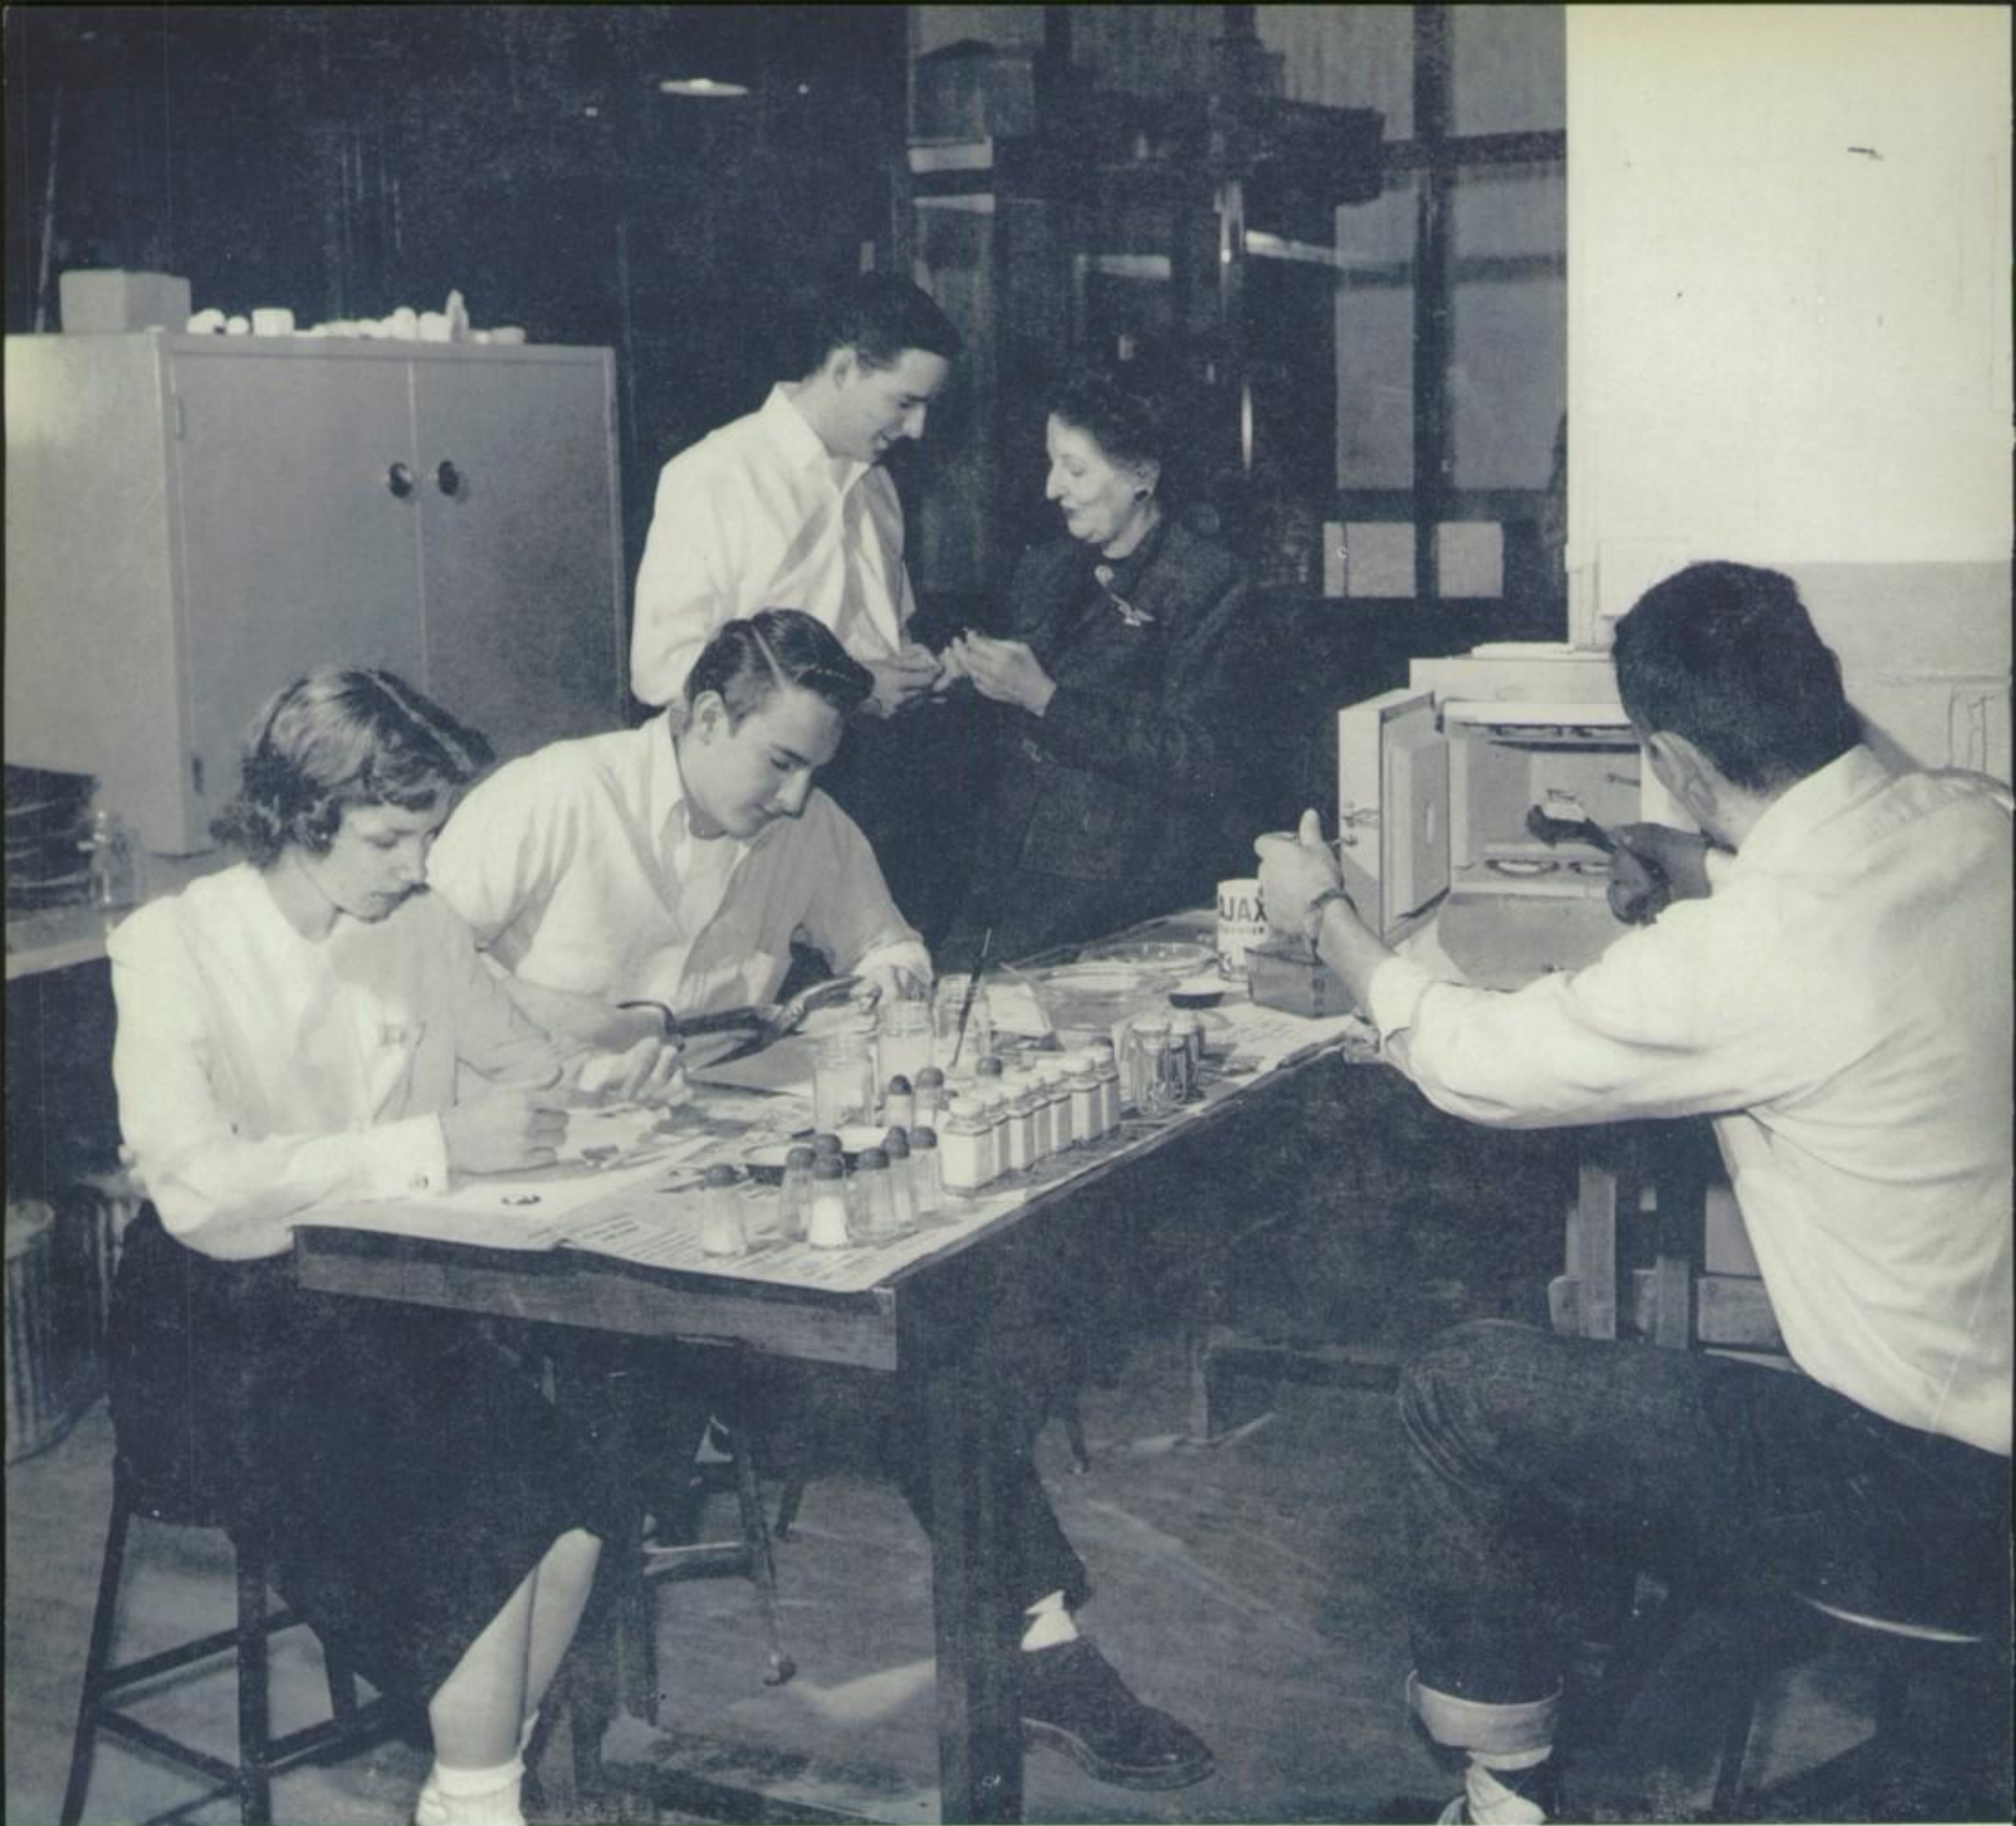

German club band provides music for a Christmas party

Through the years the German heritage of Cincinnati has furnished a rich cultural background. At Western Hills, the German Club strives to gain a knowledge of the many fine German customs still found in Cincinnati. At some of their informal meetings the members often join in singing songs that are popular in Germany. At the joint language club Christmas party, the German Club band entertained the Latin and Romance Language Clubs with some of their renditions of Christmas carols.

Under the direction of their sponsor, Mr. Shackleford, the club visited Mecklenburg Gardens, a place known for its old German atmosphere. This was one more way the members realized how the past so often complements the present in Cincinnati.

Bandwagon scenery, future city plans, and Civil Defense posters are among the many services performed by the art department at Western Hills.

At Christmas time, art students throughout the city combined their efforts by making Christmas scenes for department store windows under the theme of "Put Christ Back Into Christmas."

More important, however, than these projects is a deeper appreciation for the beauty surrounding us that the careless eye fails to observe. This appreciation comes from the study of art. Most art students will never become famous, but this training in self-expression will always prove valuable to them.

Western Hills has the distinction of being one of the schools in this city which offers both a thorough college preparatory course and a variety of interesting vocational subjects. West Hi boys can very easily make a profession of the shop training that our school offers, or, they can just keep it in reserve for future handiness as they acquire the "do-it-yourself" habit, a habit which cannot be topped in the qualities of convenience and economy. Even if one does neither of these, however, his shop training will still be worthwhile. In any course of his choice, he will find himself enjoying 190 hours of fun-filled and interesting work. In all respects these will be relaxed, and yet, fast-moving hours, hours that are looked forward to each and every day.

The punching of typewriter keys, the humming of the calculating machines, and the whirring of the mimeograph characterize the sound effects produced by West Hi's well-equipped commercial department.

Under the good guidance of seven competent teachers, these students learn of the many techniques needed if they are to take their places in the business world of tomorrow.

The girls are eagerly anticipating the day to come when they will be on their own in some large office. This eagerness leads to the zest and enthusiasm with which they undertake each new experience.

The aim of the teachers is to train the future secretaries, stenographers, typists, comptometer operators, and file clerks in the accuracy, dependability, and alertness which leads to success in business.

The unique, profitable, co-op merchandising course (West Hi is one of only three Cincinnati schools that offers it) has proved invaluable to the many graduates who have taken advantage of it. It has given them practical experience in all phases of merchandising, as well as helped them decide whether salesmanship specifically should be their vocation.

Composed of 20 seniors, the merchandising class leaves school at noon on three afternoons of the week, and each member goes off to his individual job. Most positions are at downtown department stores and are usually secured for the students by the school. The trainees work on Saturdays, also, and when the school year is over, they usually keep their jobs at a raise in pay.

Merchandising students devote part of their spare time to the Merchandising Club, an organization that keeps itself busy with recreational and welfare activities, fashion shows, and educational field trips to various businesses of particular interest.

On one of the many excursions of the Business Club, Ginger Zulager, Barbara Seyferth, Carol Hutchinson, Carolyn Hayes, Marlene Bear, and President Roger Miller confer with Mr. Cholomondeley of Littleford - Nelson School of Commerce, Neave Building, 4th and Race Streets. They learn that good secretaries and skilled typists are always in demand in the business world, and that Littleford-Nelson can provide training for these jobs.

TIME FOR FUN

In our band, our orchestra, our choir—in our publications, drama classes, clubs, and our social organizations, we learn to develop our talents and use our leisure time to the best advantage. The lessons we learn in co-operation and understanding of others prove to us the value of Time for Fun.

West Hi's marching band gives atmosphere and spirit

The scent of autumn is in the air; it's a warm, fall afternoon; sixth period classes give drowsy attention to lessons. Across the street on the athletic field, the football team is trickling out to practice, and then comes the echoing boom, boom of West Hi's marching band.

Many hours of diligent practice go into the superb shows which enliven and give color to our athletic events. Before the practice can start, however, Mr. Brady and the band managers must develop the idea and plan the sequence for each marching show. First, inspiration; second, arrangement; third, performance; that is the secret of the marvelous productions for which West Hi's band is known. The same holds true for the concert band, which carries on for the rest of the year. Almost overnight, the brassy, fast-stepping one hundred becomes the reserved, elite one hundred.

Though the band works very hard during the year, it also has loads of fun. Responsible for many of the activities is the Band Letter Club. Each member of the band works for a letter on a point system. When he receives a letter he becomes a proud member of the Band Letter Club.

High steps, loud cheers, and drum roll enliven our games

Here comes the band! And look who's leading them. Yes, it's our high stepping, baton-twirling major and majorettes.

These very important people, plus the cheerleaders and drum corps, are responsible for much of the band's color and vivacity. The cheerleaders do a terrific job in arousing cheers which give the team moral support.

A drum corps is essential to any marching band. The West Hi drummers are tops in their field.

In their first offering of the year the Senior Dramatics Class presented a highly humorous skit entitled "Burlesque of a Courtroom." Under the capable directorship of our new dramatics teacher, Mr. Lane, the class also had the audience in chills with the horror play called "Ile." Jo Ann Hucke completed the entertainment for the Halloween Assembly with a delightful monologue.

The Dramatics Class also added to the beauty of the season's Christmas assembly with their heart-warming skit, "The Juggler." Shown to the left in a scene from the play are Gloria Kessler, Harvey Hohnecker, Bob Sparrow, and Ron Stout.

Senior class play is a success despite many handicaps

"The show must go on . . ." even when one actress is ill, and several others of the cast are suffering the after effects of laryngitis. Yes, our Senior Class Play had to and did "go on" under these circumstances with laudable success.

The stage was set, the atmosphere was tense, and the cast waited in nervous anticipation to present their three-act play, "The Stage Door." Then the curtains parted.

With fingers still crossed Mr. Lane and Jeanne Pale, his assistant director, heard what was music to their ears as the audience vigorously applauded the end of the first act. The director's worries were over; the performance of his cast was almost professional, and his leading actress Joan Kahsar displayed a natural acting ability. Praise also was merited by Lois Greenfield, who in the absence of one of the cast, quickly had learned the lines with remarkable skill.

Then all was over—all except the memory of the Senior Class Play which will remain.

No, West High will never forget the night the show went on.

Mr. Rimanoczy

Senior A Cappella choir performs beautifully in various appearances throughout the city

"Perfection," the only way to describe the magnificent work of the Western Hills A Cappella choir, is what Mr. Rim, our vocal director, strives for and is successful in achieving. Only through hours of diligent practice can the choir provide such harmony. Anyone who has witnessed choir performances has enjoyed choral music at its finest. Among the outstanding performances are the Thanksgiving and Christmas programs, Bandwagon, the city-wide song fest, and an appearance with the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra. The A Cappella Choir is something of which Western Hills High School is justly proud.

In the picture below is Mr. Rim working with pianist, Carol Simpson. The accompaniment is, of course, very important to the choir.

Orchestra follows the tradition of musical appreciation

Since the school's opening, the Senior Orchestra has presented a high standard of music, developing a tradition of fine art and appreciation.

This year was certainly no exception, as the Orchestra gave fine performances in the Christmas Program and in Bandwagon. They presented a beautiful and moving medley of hymns and carols to complete a very successful Christmas Program. In preparation for the annual variety show, Bandwagon, Mr. Brady and the members of the orchestra spent many long and difficult hours of practice, rehearsing to obtain the best possible accompaniment.

Western Hills students may truly take pride in the outstanding performances of the orchestra and also in the fact that West Hi has more active participants in its music department than any other school in this area.

The fine quality of the woodwinds, the life and beauty of the strings, and the expert overall conduction by Mr. Brady contribute highly to the success our orchestra enjoys.

Another success for Bandwagon

Boys: Dave Hogg, Bob Howarth. Dancers: Cherry Steioff, Harvey Hohnecker. Mambo Line: Judy Richardson, Carol Cottingham, Virginia Miller, Carol Murphy, Barbara Brown, Joyce Bothwell and Carol Fosnot.

Joyce Sloan, Sonnie Wallace, Sonja Firth.

Five, six, seven, eight, mombo! This year the big feature of Bandwagon was the Cuban scene. Many long hours of practice went into teaching the "northern" pony chorus to do the mombo, which they perfected. Veteran performers Cherry Steioff and Harvey Hohnecker highlighted the excellent production.

Something different in this year's Bandwagon were two clever pantomime numbers. Audiences were greatly impressed with the synchronized lip movements of those doing Dreamboat and Water Can't Quench the Fire of Love.

Shirley Perkins, Ken Bergdolt, and the choir in a scene from the Student Prince.

BARBARA BROWN

JO ANN STRETCH

As is the tradition of Bandwagon, the Senior A Cappella Choir was the vocal chorus for the show. The music they presented from the production Student Prince lightened everyone's heart. Shirley Perkins and Ken Bergdolt beautifully typified two lovers singing Serenade, and the audience took a fancy to sweet, little Suzanne DeCamp as she sang Deep In My Heart.

Exquisite beauty of the winter scene lingers in our memory

Bandwagon cast had an extra opportunity this year to "put one over" on its audience, since the Friday performance fell on April Fools' Day. The lights dimmed, the fanfare sounded, the curtain opened, but the stage was empty. A tape recording of the preceding evening's opener I Want To Be Happy was played. After the joke, everyone agreed that the superb quality of the band was there—live or recorded.

Instrumentals, dances, and vocals of all types, woven into the show, kept it moving at a fast pace. Mr. Brady's fine arrangements added an original quality.

A hilarious comedy number by Barbara Brown, The Sewer Song, and a lively combo consisting of junior high members greatly enlivened the show.

Bandwagon's very inspiring finale consisted of the hit parade favorite Davy Crockett, In the Good Old U.S.A., This Is My Country, and This Is My School.

Annual staff is inspired by "This is My School"

Deadlines, copy writing, and crowded picture schedules describe the hectic life of a West Hi Annual Staff member. This year's staff of over thirty hustling students, with Miss Weber as adviser and Mr. Lowe as business adviser, worked since the close of school last June to make this book possible. Inspired by Mr. Brady's popular 1954 Bandwagon finale, the staff had little trouble in choosing this year's theme and set to work early to design a book commensurate with the fine sentiment expressed in the song. In spite of the drudgery, the staff and advisers had fun working together and felt joy in doing something of service for Western Hills.

The Breeze gets the wind of everything

School news, sports, features, interviews, polls, and poems are all included in the biggest breeze of all—The Western Breeze. The paper does not only present the lighter side of the news, however. Editorials seek to improve school conditions and to enlighten students about teen age views of world affairs. After the editors have laid out the pages, and the reporters have written their stories, the copy readers check and correct material. This must be done before the Breeze goes to press at the Western Hills Publishing Company. Published fifteen times a year, the Breeze is a member of the Columbia Press Association and distributors of Scholastic Rotogravure. The closely knit staff enjoys good times together as they continually strive to uphold their platform:

- Write the news in an accurate, ethical and impartial manner.
- Hold our student body together and uphold our school's name and scholastic standards.
- Bring worthwhile news events to the attention of the students and faculty and promote just causes.

Various school jobs give students valuable experience

Among the many jobs around school for students who are interested in making money and helping to run their school more efficiently is the important job of operating the student supply store. This year Charles Lemert and Bud Herzog have been the ever busy boys. The practical experience they have received from selling varied school supplies will certainly help them when they enter the business world.

Besides selling, these boys are also responsible for supplying our teachers with the required textbooks. This all adds up to a terrifically large task.

Consisting of both girls and boys, our efficient lunch room staff carries out such functions as dish washing, cashiering, and assisting the cooks. Theirs is tedious work very necessary to the smooth operation of the lunch room.

The picture below may look like the familiar scene in one of our six attendance offices any winter morning when returning pupils seek to justify their absences, but there's a difference here. A look at the attendance record would reveal that these people are rarely absent. In fact, they are the trusted and reliable assistants to the attendance teachers. Yes, we'll have to admit it! Hi-Y promotes Christian fellowship Wholesome physical, mental, and spiritual, activities the years around are enjoyed by members of Alpha Hi-Y. Every Tuesday evening Hi-Y members meet in close fellowship to partake of an evening of varied and pleasurable athletic activities.

Topping Hi-Y's fun list was an outing held at Versailles State Park with the Tri-Hi-Y girls. This was made possible through the money made by the combined organizations in several paper drives.

Activities such as this, plus a program of baseball, basketball, and football make Hi-Yers aware of the need for and importance of team work and good sportsmanship in our society.

Y-Teens promotes mental and spiritual development

Christian growth, fellowship, and fun are the aims of the Y-Teens. Although the Y-Teens group at West Hi is small in comparison with the thousands of similar organizations, it has, nevertheless, been very active during the past school year. Several charity projects undertaken were a Halloween party, Christmas caroling, charity donations, and making children's beanbags.

Together with the Hi-Y group, the Phi-Y-Teens had several parties and a number of successful paper drives. The Y-Teens feel that they have reached their goal this year in being able to come a little closer to living in peace and in brotherhood with all people.

Each senior girl has the opportunity to participate in a club designed exclusively for her interests, the Senior Girls' Club.

The seniors acquainted their little sisters, adopted by the girls from the seventh grade, with West Hi and made them feel at home in their new school.

A successful year made each member realize how working together in the Senior Girls' Club toward a common goal had helped her to attain many of the most desirable assets in life.

Through the years the Red Cross has come to be recognized as a symbol of good will. Here at West Hi the efforts of Miss Tebbenhoff and her committees have contributed to those in need. Here we see Eileen Jones, Margaret Van Lieu, Carolyn Cole, Karen Springmeyer, Ann Stubbs, Jack Helscher, Gordon Greek, Carole Berghausen, Ron Smith, Miss Tebbenhoff, and Jim Schaal filling some 300 boxes which were sent to Ireland, Austria, and some Pacific Islands.

The pride and joy of the Bible Club is a small chubby three-year-old Korean orphan boy whom they support through the United World Mission. His name is Yum Yong Chan and through correspondence with him they feel as though they know him and love him like a brother.

The aim of the club is to spread the Gospel of Christ. The programs of the meetings are composed of various guest speakers, beautiful religious music, and interesting Bible studies.

The theme of the club is taken from I Timothy 4:12 . . . "Let no man despise thy youth; but be thou an example of the believers in word, in conversation, in charity, in spirit, in faith, and in purity."

Bible Club and Future Teachers Club build good citizens for tomorrow's world

To interest high school students in teaching as a career is the purpose of West Hi's Future Teachers Club. This group, although consisting of only twenty-five members, accomplished much in learning about the occupation.

Visiting Covedale School and observing the different classes during exams was the major project of Future Teachers Club. The members also attended a party at the University of Cincinnati where the questions the students had about the teaching career were answered. At meetings, members discussed articles concerning the teaching profession.

Besides this instruction, the group gave a party for underprivileged children at the Neighborhood House at Easter and had a Christmas party as well as other social affairs.

Tri-Hi-Y develops character, Magic Club—magicians

Wouldn't it be fun to be able to pull a rabbit out of a hat; to make cards disappear right before your friends' eyes; and even to cut in half, a lady in a box? Well, that is just what the members of the Magic Club have been learning to do this past year. According to the sponsor, Mr. Geer, some of the members are becoming quite adept at these magic skills. Surprisingly most of those interested in this magic world are girls! You better watch out, fellows, or they will be playing tricks on you.

The purpose of Tri-Hi-Y is "to create, maintain, and extend high standards of Christian character throughout the school and community." The Tri-Hi-Y Club is the companion organization to the Hi-Y Club. The organization stands for the all-round development of its members in spirit, mind, and body. The three main training agencies of the club are "Home, Church, and School." "To seek, to find, and to share" are the objectives of the Tri-Hi-Y Organization. Meetings held at the Y.M.C.A. give the girls an opportunity to build good sportsmanship and to develop their character.

Social organizations have a common bond in Interfraternity Interfraternity, composed of all sorority and fraternity presidents, serves as the governing body for the sororities and fraternities, and has as its purposes the coordination of all sorority and fraternity activities, the settlement of interfraternity problems, and the sponsoring of interfraternity activities. Working in this capacity, it maintains a high level of cooperation and good will among West Hi's social organizations.

This year Interfraternity's largest project was the distribution and collection of canisters for Muscular Dystrophy. Their other charity project was a dance fittingly named the "Fools Frolic," as it was held on April Fool's Day.

Silver anniversary is celebrated by Pidel

For twenty-five years the yellow rose bud and the diamond shaped black and gold pin have symbolized many memorable occasions to the Pidel girl. This year the pages of her memory book are filled with remembrances of the annual Black Cat Ball, the Christmas Formal, the Match-Me-Hop, the Chautauqua outing, and the Pidel Banquet. Filling Thanksgiving baskets, collecting money for the Muscular Dystrophy and Cancer Funds, and giving a Christmas party for the Union Bethel children are among the activities which gave her a deep feeling of satisfaction in helping others.

The girls, spending much of their time and effort working with charity projects, delighted the old folks at the Hamilton County Home when they gave favors and caroled at Christmas time.

Cupid felt right at home at the Wishbone Whirl when the girls entertained their handsome male friends at their semi-formal at the Topper Club.

An outing and annual spring banquet brought to a close the social calendar and a year which proved very successful and memorable.

Under the capable leadership of Charlene Robinson, Theta Alpha Pi has experienced a successful year, highlighted by social events and charitable enterprises.

A T.A.P. girl is never too busy to help someone else. At Thanksgiving the group brought cheer to the less fortunate by contributing baskets of food. When Christmas rolled around, the pledge class of twenty-three gave a party for underprivileged children. In addition, rummage sales were held in October and March.

Dances which the organization sponsored were the second annual Fall Frolic, a Christmas formal, and the fourth annual Top Hat Hop.

Academically, Theta Alpha Pi has rated high and claimed several honors this year. Following the announcement of Gloria Jacobs as valedictorian of the class of '55, three girls were tapped for Cum Laude.

Successful spring activities included an April hayride, the annual banquet, and an outing to Meadowbrook. Theta Alpha Pi can truly claim 1954-55 as a year of fun, work, and honor.

Once again Sub Deb started its year with a bang. Seventeen pledges were the result of two outstanding rush parties: a "Soda Sip" and an "Out of this World Party." Constructive pledging, and a charity party instead of informal initiation, helped to instill the idea of good sportsmanship and good will in the minds of pledges.

With this new class added to their all around actives, Sub Deb proceeded to work together in many different ways. Twice the girls attended church as a group for religious fellowship. They also gave baskets of food, and presents to a family at Christmas and Easter, and helped in local charity drives.

Many social events added spice to Sub Deb's active program. Among these were: a Christmas formal, a skating party, two dances, a Christmas banquet, a senior party, and an outing. The annual Spring Banquet and dance, at which the officers for the coming year were announced, climaxed a year of fun, fellowship, and service.

Sparkettes

One day in 1954, deciding to form a new sorority, a group of Western Hills girls drew up a constitution based on a goal of high ideals and launched it with the name Sparkettes. This year the members engaged in many projects, including gala dances such as the Mistletoe Whirl, a Christmas formal, plus parties and hayrides. Through various bake sales and a rummage sale they contributed generously to charity. They also lent a helping hand in the distribution and collection of cannisters for muscular dystrophy.

Sigma Delta Chi

When the girls of Sigma Delta Chi look back on this year, they will recall a year which was filled with parties, hayrides, dances, and charity work. They will long remember the Christmas formal with the dim lights, and the skirts swishing across the floor to the smooth music of the band. They will recall the spirit of giving as they reflect upon their adopted child and the gifts they provided for him. They will feel satisfaction at having helped in distributing and collecting cannisters for Muscular Dystrophy. Yes, indeed activities such as these will linger long in their memories as they look back on a busy and fun filled year.

From the somber hues of autumn to the bright shades of spring the Tausia girls formed an activity filled parade that may well be called TEX through the year.

September brought a hayride, the annual Fall Fumble with Triginta Optimi, and the Crystal Ball, a formal with Pidel. The New Year ushered in a slumber party, the March Top Hat Hop, the Mother's Day Tea, the May outing, and the annual banquet.

Tausia

The distribution and collection of muscular dystrophy cannisters, the adoption of a family to treat at Thanksgiving and Christmas, and a benefit card party all prove that the Tausias believe in lending a helping hand.

The most important aspect of TEX through the year, however, was the closeness and friendliness of her members. This could be seen most clearly when at the beginning of each meeting the girls bowed their heads and prayed together.

Tu Phi Beta Sorority started the year off with "The Seventeen Rush Party." Tu Phi continued her varied social activities with a party during the Christmas season. Other activities included several "get-togethers," outings, slumber parties, a tea in the spring, and a spring dance.

The members showed their concern for others by selling Forget-Me-Nots and collecting money for muscular dystrophy. Following the election in the spring, the new officers were announced for the coming year.

Chi Omega Sigma

Chi Omega Sigma started 1954-55 off on the right foot. The first big affair of the season was the annual Autumn Ambush at Castle Farm. At Christmas, C.O.S. and Pidel gave a party for the children at the Union Bethel Settlement House. Next on the calendar came the Sweetheart Dance when Rhonda Vogt reigned as the Sweetheart of C.O.S.

The new officers filled the rest of the calendar with many activities, including the Senior Outing which climaxed another successful year for the boys who proudly wear the blue and gold of Chi Omega Sigma Fraternity.

Phi Delta Sigma

Every year is a big year for P.D.S. and this year proved to be no exception. A well rounded social program with fun galore kept life exciting for the boys. What a ball everyone had at the Fall Frolic. This dance with T.A.P. was tops and most successful.

Hayrides and house parties claimed their spot on the varied and busy social agenda. The meetings every Monday night were always a gay occasion, even down to the refreshments and card games afterwards.

Sigma Alpha Beta

Sigma Alpha Beta Fraternity was organized at Western Hills last year. Because of the willingness of the boys to work hard for every activity and project, they have proved themselves a fine fraternity.

Social events are all great occasions as far as the boys go. An old clothes dance held at North Bend Inn highlighted the activities of the year.

The fraternity concentrates quite a bit on helping charity in various ways. During the year, S.A.B. and Triginta Optimi played a benefit basketball game of which the proceeds went to muscular dystrophy. Sigma Alpha Beta has had a very successful year and is now looking forward to many more.

Triginta Optimi

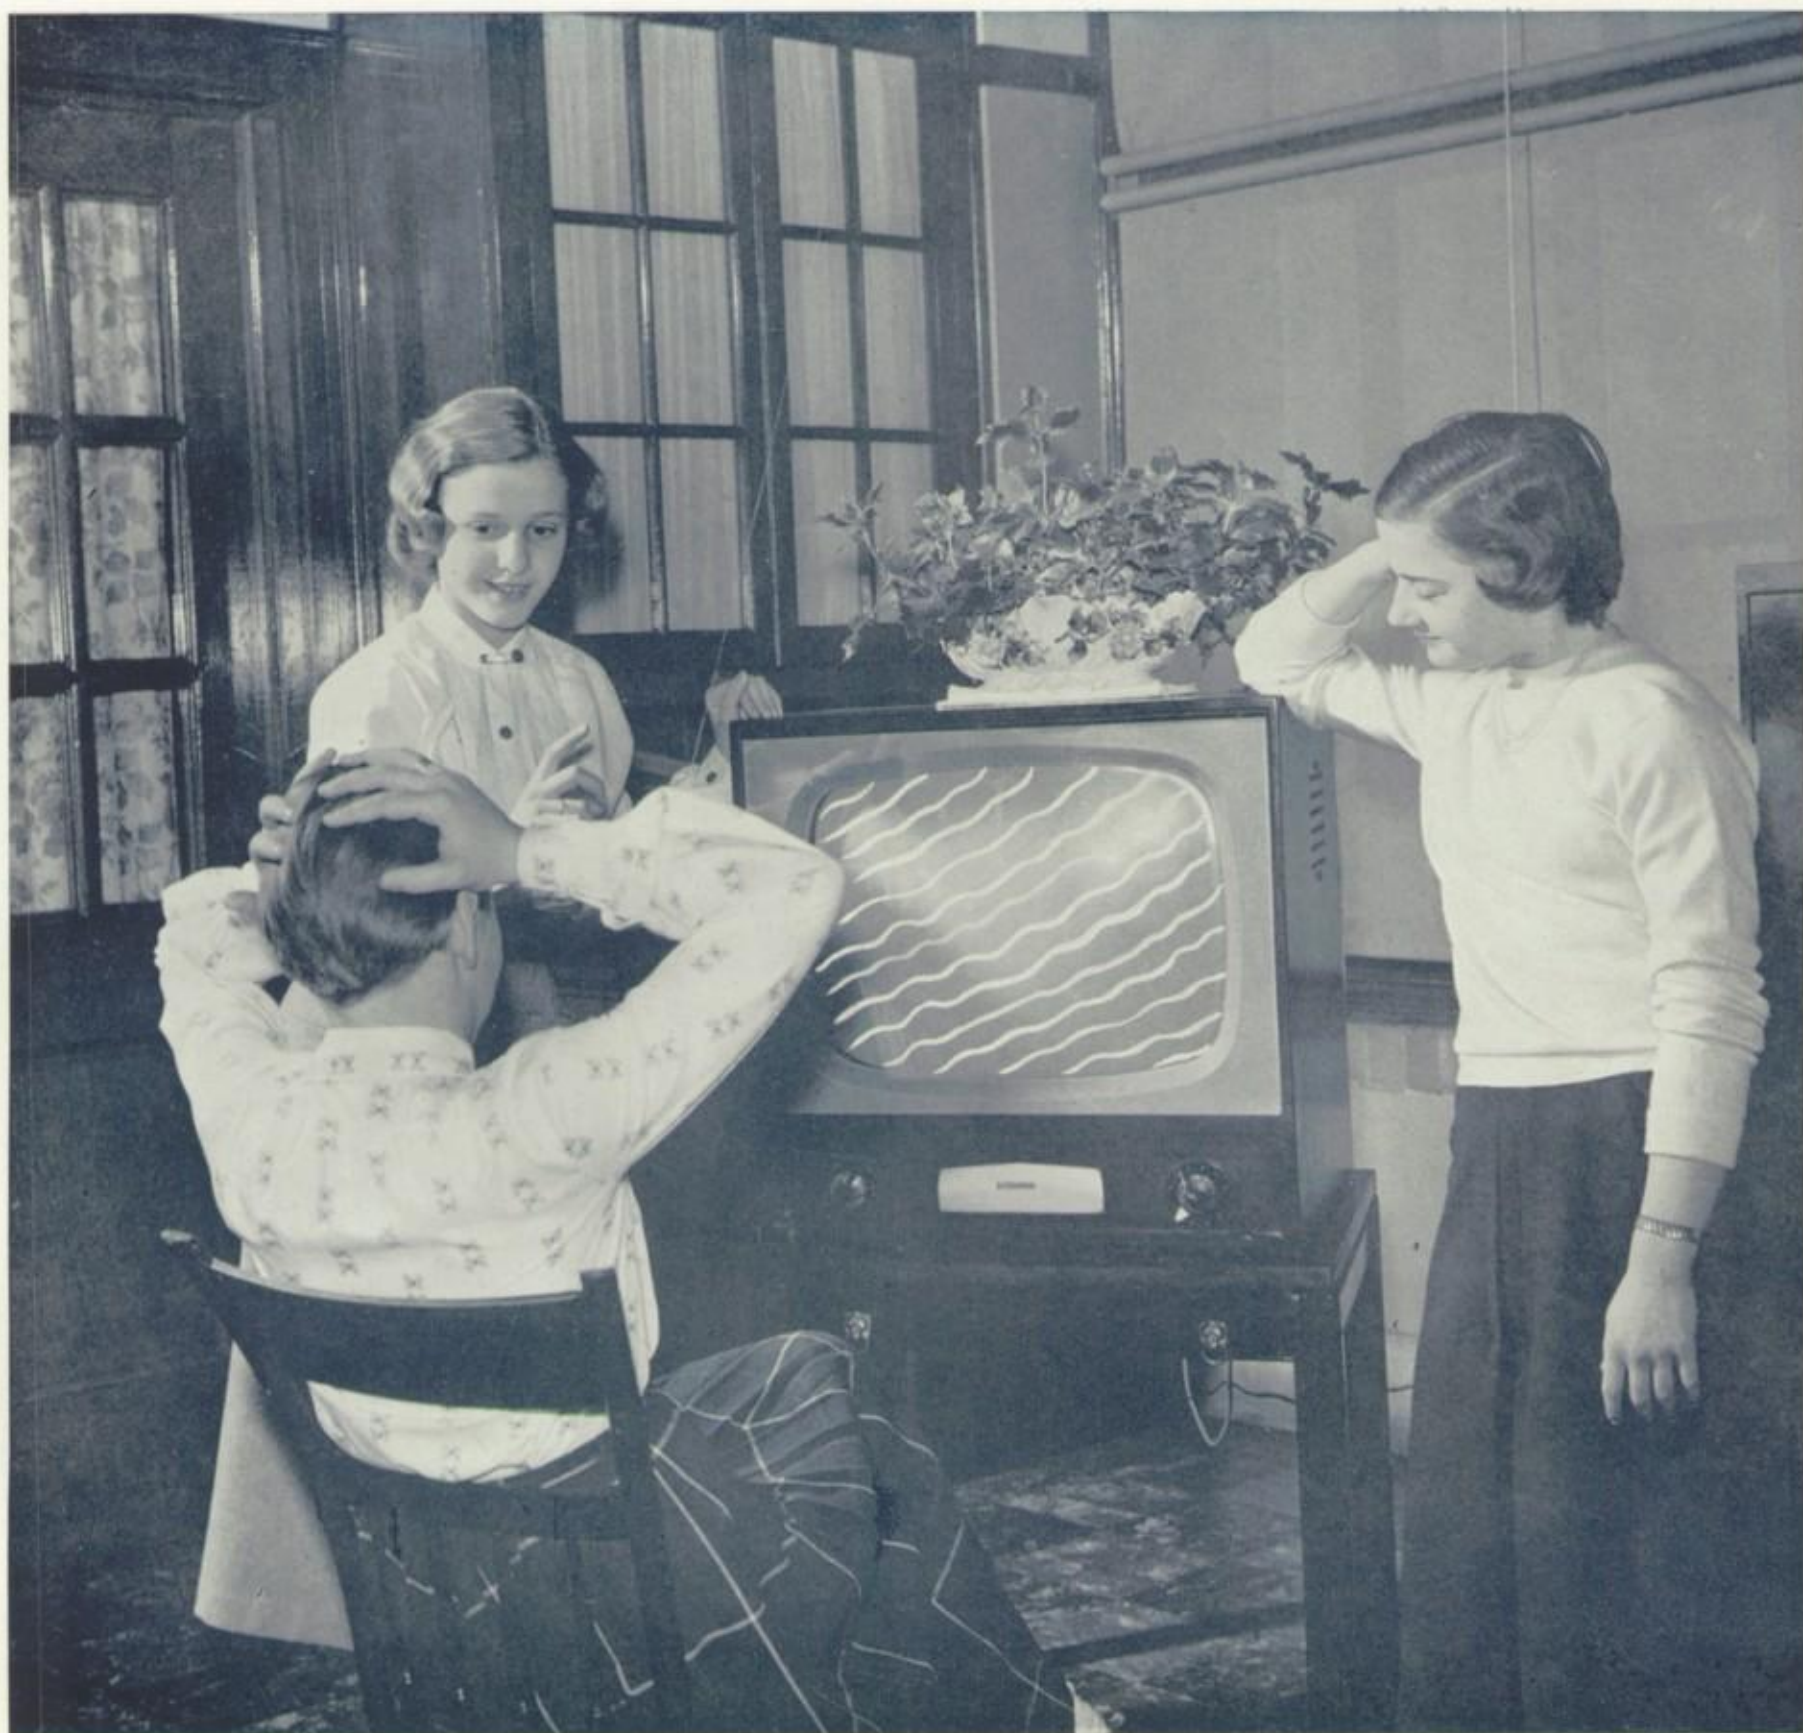

With Joe Coombs as their president, the boys of Triginta Optimi enjoyed another big year. The boys were quite active in sports this year, placing several members on the football, basketball, baseball, and track teams.

The fraternity laid its emphasis on several gala dances which met with great success, such as the dance at Castle Farm featuring Tommy and Jimmy Dorsey, and Moonlight Rhapsody. Room in the well-filled calendar was also found for a card party, a hayride, and numerous informal get-togethers.

In spite of successful social affairs, this year would not be remembered as one of attainment without generous contributions to charity.

Demolay

Western Hills Chapter of Demolay, led by Counselors Roger Miller, Jim Allen, and Ned Hauss, experienced a prosperous and enjoyable year. Numbering about ninety active members, this organization derived both funds and entertainment from such activities as the Turkey Strut, and a skating party, both held in conjunction with Job's Daughters; the convention which was held at the Hotel Sheraton-Gibson in Cincinnati; a hayride; and a dinner.

HOURS FOR ATHLETICS

Third movement
Allegro con vivo

The thrill of competition, the excitement of team play, the comradeship of Hours for Athletics will linger in our memories long after we have left the halls of Western Hills. Our athletic program is one which offers a great deal in individual, group, and spectator sports that build strong bodies, alert minds, and fine personalities.

Athletics condition the mind as well as the body

The year of 1954-55 at Western Hills will be remembered for many years to come by those who have long hoped for and dreamed of a new gymnasium. The greatly anticipated moment finally arrived, preceding the opening basketball game of the season, when the new gym was officially dedicated by a host of dignitaries. Mr. Siehl, our former principal, tossed up the ball for the opening tip-off and the gym was initiated as a part of the school.

The large locker rooms, the fine shower facilities, the beautiful spacious gym office, and the 1200 person seating capacity are conveniences never before experienced by a Western Hills Athletic Department. The coaches and instructors pictured above will gladly vouch for the usefulness of the new gym which will certainly improve the athletic and physical education programs of the school. Yes, it is certainly a dream come true.

Here at Western Hills, in the gym and on the athletic field, we try to follow the principle that success in life, as success on any team, follows a pattern of molding individual talents into a working unit with our fellow men.

The pages that follow are devoted to the athletics of an eventful year at West Hi and also the teams and many individuals who participated. Surely they have received the benefits of the active participation, the competitive spirit and the sense of achievement in attaining a goal.

We are lucky to have the fine athletic staff at Western Hills that we do. The coaches and their sports include: Mr. Kappes, Football and Swimming; Mr. Heinold, Cross Country and Track; Mr. Nead, Football, Basketball and Baseball; Mr. Siekmann, Basketball and Football; Mr. McCartney, Golf; Mr. Hopping, Bowling; Mr. Singerman, Football and Tennis; Mr. Fread, Basketball; Mr. Shackelford, Football and Basketball; and Mr. McCartney, Athletic Director.

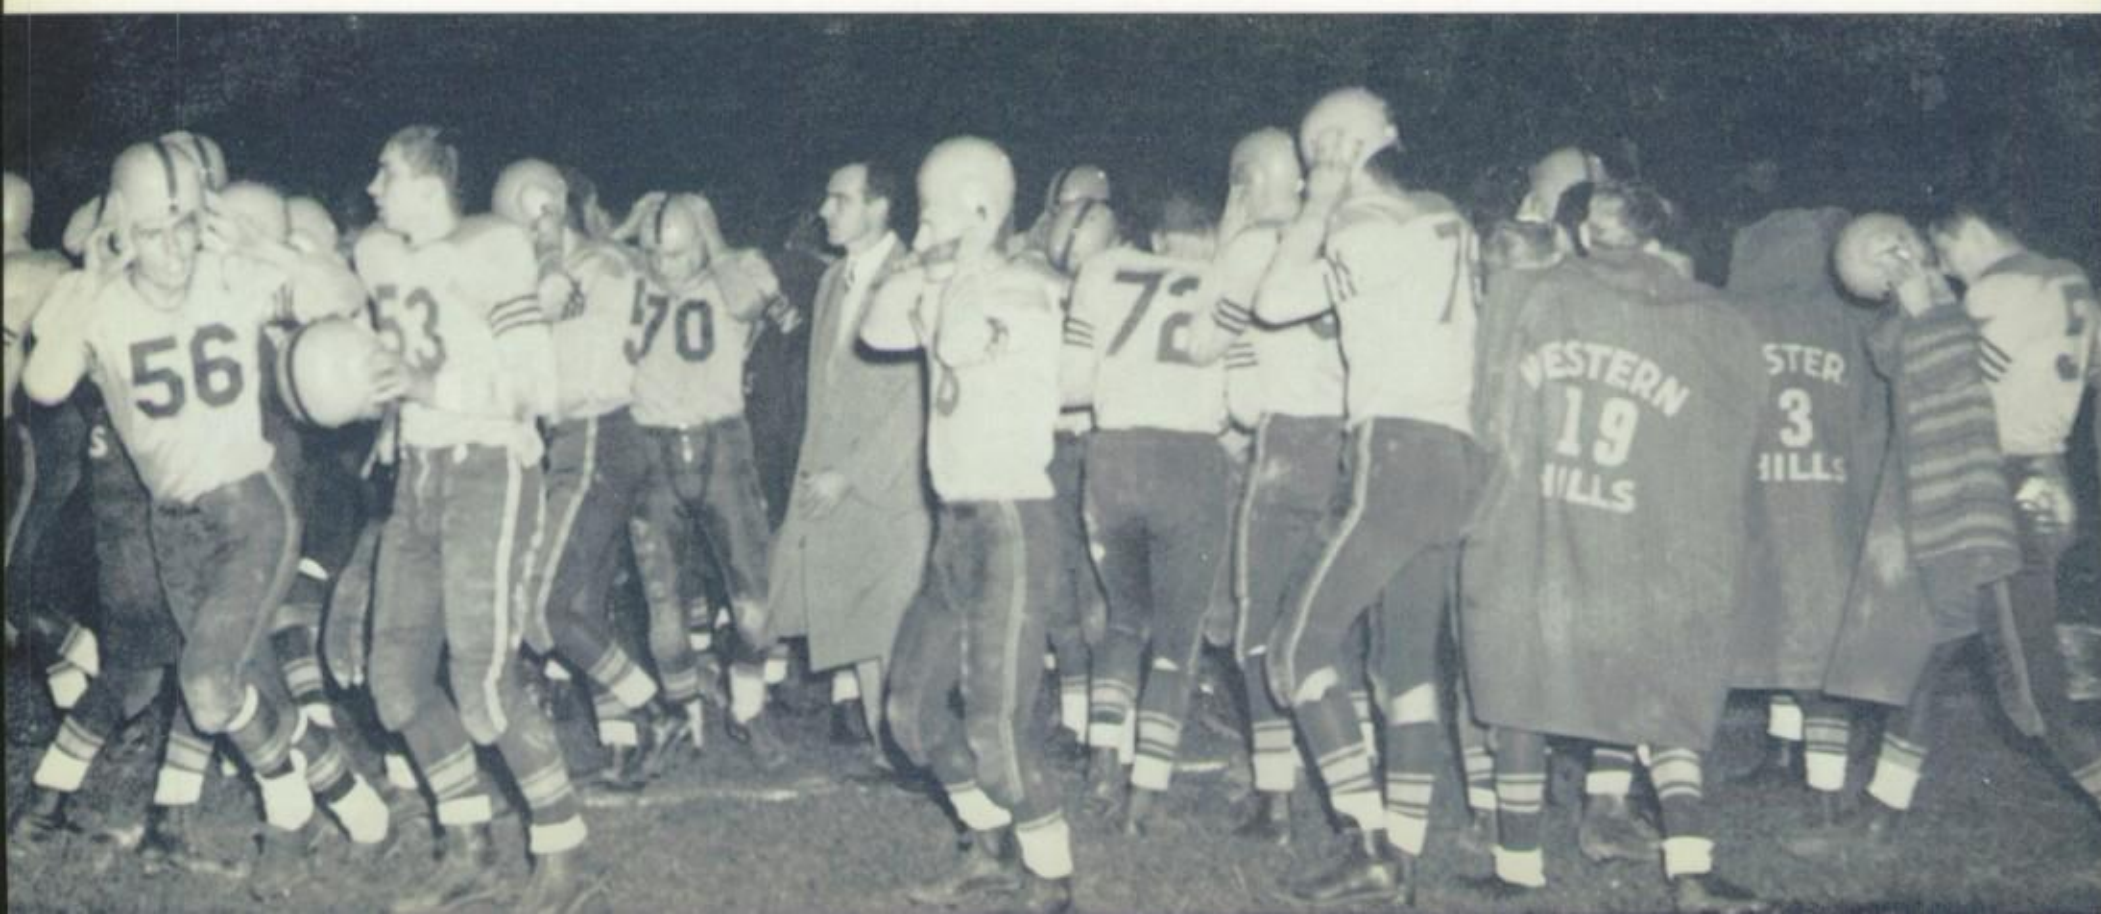

Pictured above are football managers Ken Wesp and Mike Muth with team captain Terry Williams. Wesp and Muth for the past three seasons have been doing fine work at an unenvied job. Their maintenance of equipment and their enthusiasm toward their job have been appreciated by all connected with football.

The football team works many, long, hard hours to build good sportsmanship and a better team

Under a blistering hot August sun the football team started the first of several weeks pre-school practice. The players, veterans and newcomers alike, spent many long hours each day working on calisthenics and fundamentals.

Head Coach Kappes drilled the backfield while Mr. Nead and Mr. Singerman supervised the shaping-up of the linemen.

The Maroon Mustangs, in their first chance really to show their wares, downed Central 7-0 and played to a scoreless tie with Walnut Hills in the Pigskin Preview at Trechter Stadium. That same night Hughes' Big Reds unveiled a powerful team that went on to win the Public High School League crown at the end of the season.

Although Lima Central was favored over West Hi in the first regular season game, the Maroon Mustangs finished the game strong to gain a 6-6 tie with the Green Dragons. Hopes for a successful season then began to rise until Withrow handed Western a disappointing 32-0 setback in which Captain Terry Williams suffered a leg injury that kept him from playing the rest of the season.

The spirit for the traditional "Turkey Day Battle" with Elder rose to fever pitch during Thanksgiving week. West Hi's fans clamored for victory on the final morn at Elder Stadium but went home disappointed after seeing Dick Selcer and company down the Mustangs 28-7.

This final loss gave Western Hills a 4-5-1 season record. Much credit for the success the squad did have can be chalked up to Tom Mercer, a fullback of previous years, and pass-snaring ends, Bob Ganzmiller and Bill Edwards. Ganzmiller and Bill Graves made honorable mention on two all-city teams chosen at the end of the year.

Maroons lose several close games

Lima Central (6-6) Lima opened by quickly marching to a touchdown and West Hi retaliated when Terry Williams slammed over from the one.

Hamilton (7-13) The Big Blue started quickly as they scored from the three, followed by a fifty-five yard punt return for a TD. The next three quarters were scoreless until Mercer connected on a pass to Edwards with forty seconds remaining. "Merc" completed seventeen of twenty-eight passes to ends, Bob Ganzmiller and Bill Edwards, as the Maroons dropped a "tough one."

Central (12-7) Again the Western defense was weak only in the first period as Central found the end zone for their only score. Ken Schroeder scored on a thrilling sixty-five yard punt return down the sidelines and Williams set up the final TD by racing twenty-seven yards around end to the three from which he scored on the next play.

Mariemont (20-0) West Hi had little trouble in downing a surprising Mariemont eleven as they marched to two TDs in the first half and one in the third quarter to clinch the game.

Hughes (0-13) Hughes gigantic team proved to be too big an obstacle for the Maroons and they dropped a hard-fought contest as the Big Reds scored once in each half.

Withrow (0-32) Terry Williams was lost for the remainder of the season early in the first quarter. Al Manzler, Cincy's leading scorer, led the Tigers and was a big problem to the Maroons.

Old Woodward (6-12) The Bulldogs, in their last year as a senior high school, topped the Maroons at Trechter in this game. Chris Rembold bucked over from the three yard line for the Western score.

New Woodward (20-7) The Maroons' offense shifted into high gear against New Woodward but 125 yards in penalties undoubtedly prevented West Hi from turning the game into a rout. Ron Fox raced 85 yards to the goal while Tom Mercer passed for 37 yards to Bob Ganzmiller for a score. Ron Lutz tallied the final marker.

Walnut Hills (12-7) Ken Schroeder highlighted play against the Eagles as he dashed 98 yards for a touchdown on a very sloppy field.

Elder (7-28) The Panthers were out to bag their tenth straight victory and couldn't be stopped in the last half. The Maroon defense was splendid in the first half and didn't yield an Elder score until three minutes remained but in the second half Dick Selcer, Elder's all-state quarterback, and the rest of his crew were very hard to hold down.

Reserve and freshmen teams have mediocre season

The freshman and reserve teams finished their respective seasons with the identical records of 3 games won and 4 lost.

Although the freshman eleven displayed some of the fine form that was characteristic of last year's squad, they lacked consistency. The team had victories over New Woodward, Central, and Walnut Hills, but the tables were turned in the cases of Porter, Old Woodward, Withrow, and Samuel Ach.

Under their new coach, Mr. Singerman, the reserves turned back Walnut Hills, Central, and New Woodward. Many of the boys will be seeking to start on next year's varsity.

Cross country team has few returning runners

Pictured at the right are the happy harriers who braved driving snow and muddy hills in the district meet to defeat Wayne Township and Norwood and win a varsity letter and an apple from Coach Heinold. In spite of the return of only one letterman, John Challifour, this year's aggregation of harriers developed strong bodies and stout hearts as well as the team spirit which always prevails at the big Avon Fields shindigs. The letter-winners, who could be found every evening at 5:30 trudging (or staggering) through the empty halls of West Hi, are Bill Backus, John Challifour, Jim Claffey, Arnold Meier, Jerome Merritt, and Don Phillips. The latter turned in the best time of 12:01. George Sampson and Dick Backus finished 6th and 8th in the second PHSL meet to lead the reserve runners to fourth place. The junior reserve runners, led by Aichele and Rau, split two meets with Hughes, both decided by one point.

Basketball team downs Hughes—runner-up for state title

When West Hi's cagers defeated Walnut Hills in the final game of the regular season to gain a four-way tie for the runner-up spot in the Public High School League, Coach Siekman felt jubilant enough to pronounce the basketball season a success.

Running up an overall season record of twelve games won and ten lost, the Maroon Mustangs surprised many good teams. West Hi's very productive offense downed Purcell, the Greater Cincinnati League champs, and then, about a month later, playing their best game of the year, the basketekers topped Hughes by one point, becoming one of the two teams to defeat the PHSL champions and runner-up for the state championship.

Climaxing the hectic season that saw the hoopsters lose four games by a combined total of five points, co-captains Chris Rembold and Bud Herzog were chosen on the All-City basketball squad.

The Mustangs made the best of what they had throughout the year, although the pre-season predictions were definitely not in favor of them. Having one of the smaller teams in this part of the state, the West Hi cagers had to mobilize individual ability into team work. It was this team work which paid off and will continue to pay off as the boys face life's many problems in the days to come. We of Western Hills should feel proud of the determination put forth by our team.

The senior team members pictured on this page comprised the starting line-up and most of the reserve strength on this year's varsity basketball team. Also seeing considerable action this winter were two promising juniors, Jim Schmidt and Tom Angus.

Coach Nead's reserve basketball team ended another winning season with a 12-8 record. Led by co-captains Bob Shimizu and Fred Schneider, along with Ken Sappington, Ron Ishmael, Warren Kirschner, and a strong bench, the reserves finished third in the PHSL. The experience gained from the keen league competition and against teams like Portsmouth and Hamilton should make for a good varsity squad in '57.

Under the watchful eye of Coach Del Fread, the freshmen cagers practiced many long hours learning the fundamentals of basketball. The freshmen quintet compiled an excellent season record of eight wins and three losses while having a fine chance to show, under the strain and stress of actual competition, what they had learned.

Bowlers capture 14th consecutive P. H. S. L. title

For the fourteenth consecutive season the Western Hills Mustang Keglers have captured the Public High School League bowling championship, boasting a record of 25 games won and only 5 lost. Coach Hopping's team with only one returning letterman and a predicted lack of experience was, nevertheless, able to set some outstanding records. Among these records was a new P.H.S.L. high for a three game total along with an outstanding team average of 830.

The team was led by high-scorer Joe Coombs and Captain Ken Wesp, supported by Ed Krautter, Art Mahaffey and Terry Sieve. Mahaffey and Sieve, both juniors, will return next year to spearhead West Hi's attack and carry on the prominence of the bowling team.

It looks like another sure strike for Ken Wesp, one of the champion Mustang keglers.

Many underclassmen promise future success

This year there has been renewed interest in the gym team at West Hi. Under the able tutoring of Coach Nohr the squad of predominantly underclass boys began to take shape following many long hours of practice after school. Through their determination they made up for their lack of experience.

The willingness of this year's team to work, however, foreshadowed the possibility of a bright future and restored prominence for our Gym Teams. In addition, Mr. Nohr felt that if more underclassmen would take an active interest in the Gym Team, the results in the future would be more decisively in West Hi's favor.

What competition—hordes of Walnut Hills, Withrow, and Central swimmers! I'll bet you couldn't pick up any points against those hardened experienced Tigers and Eagles either! Although Boerio, Francis, Lemert, Morgan, and White consistently won points for Western in the triangular meets, the State Champion Eagles really poured it on in the City and District Meets. They won by an average of about 40 points! In fact, Bill Morgan, ace Mustang diver, was the only Maroon to place as he picked up two points. If you think you can beat the likes of Dolbey, Larson, or Roebuck, now Coke stars, sign up with Coach Bob Kappes this fall. Incidentally, you don't have to be a state champ to make our swimming team. Come on out—it's lots of fun.

The golf team, after downing Elder and playing to a tie against a strong Hughes team, must have looked rather satisfied. Trackmen strive for perfection and co-ordination

"This year's track team shows an improvement over last year's," stated Coach Jim Heinold. Forming the nucleus of the squad were the five returning lettermen. John Challifour and Dave Gibbas gave Western Hills a threat in the distance races and dashes, while Forrest Meyer performed ably in the hurdles.

The trackmen were strongest in the field events with many young boys, unpredictable in their performances, backing up the veterans, Ron Lutz and Tom Wagner.

Next year Coach Heinold looks forward to having the best track team he's ever coached since coming to West Hi. The junior team will furnish many capable boys in all events for the '56 varsity.

The dashes, the runs, the hurdles and the field events comprise the track events. Getting set for a short dash are Dave Snyder, Dave Gibbas, Jim Claffey, Tom Moore and Larry Moss. Going over the hurdles in fine style are Tom Stohr, Bud Meyer, and John Edwards. At the right Tom Wagner is just finishing putting the shot for good distance.

Young cindermen hope for the day when they will compete in varsity track meets

Because many of the boys had run cross country during the fall, the junior track team's strength lay in the distance runs. Their workouts were characterized by plenty of enthusiasm and hard work. Many of the boys showed promise for the future. The experience gained from competition this year will be valuable to the freshmen who next year will move up to the varsity. Coach Heinold is counting heavily on their presence in his drive to take the Public High School League track title.

Mr. Nohr demonstrates bunting techniques to Bob Osborn, Ken Schroeder and Terry Williams.

West Hi nine starts the season well

This year, as in the past, the Maroons found themselves with the task of upholding the fine records of former baseball nines. It seemed evident, however, after the team had defeated Anderson, Taylor (twice), New Woodward, Newport Catholic (twice) and Old Woodward by comfortable margins that they were definitely headed for another fine season. With six lettermen returning, the team looked forward with confidence to capturing their twelfth P.H.S.L. title. The main strength of their attack was centered about Art Mahaffey, the lanky junior moundsman, and the heavy bats of Ken Schroeder and Bill Alexander.

Cold weather and cancellation of early season games didn't stop the players from attaining a good physical condition through leg work on the track and after school practice sessions in the new gym. One of the most important qualities of a good ball team is constant hustle, and co-captains Ken Schroeder and Terry Williams were just the fellows to keep the team hustling as they went on to finish another good season.

Mr. Nohr finished his twenty-seventh consecutive year of coaching Western Hills baseball teams this spring. The continued excellence of West Hi ball teams is a tribute to the fine ability of Coach "Pappy" Nohr.

The lineup of the squad had many fine sophomore and junior boys whose experience will certainly add to the prospects of good seasons to follow.

Six returning lettermen give team depth

Working a double play to perfection is a very important part of baseball as any player will tell you. Coach Nohr is shown at the left helping Bill Alexander and Bill Carder with their double play as Ken Schroeder is sliding into second base. Below are pictured the pitchers on the team. They are Lou Rothaas, Art Mahaffey, Doug Brooke, Ron Ott and Bob Ganzmiller.

Reserve ball players are perennially good

This shot on the diamond shows Art Mahaffey on the mound, Bud Herzog at bat, and Dick Kuehn behind the plate.

Mr. Nead this year was in his fifth season of leading the reserve baseball teams. During these five seasons the reserve teams have always had impressive records. This year's team started the season with a bang downing Old Woodward 10-4 and Hughes 10-0. Composed of practically all sophomore boys, many of whom are very good ball players, the squad is strong in every position and will provide varsity teams-to-come with some fine material.

Varsity tennis players are: Charles Lemert, Bob Hartman, Chris Tieman, Jerry Scheele, Fred Hoeffle, Dave Beiser, Terry Sieve, Ralph Meyers, Ned Hauss, Bob Bothwell, and Chris Rembold.

Netmen rank high in the city this year

Shown "spinning the racket" are: Jerry Scheele, Chris Rembold, Fred Hoeffle, Ned Hauss, Bob Bothwell, and Charles Lemert.

With all of last year's team returning, the tennis squad's prospect for taking the P.H.S.L. title looked rather good. The netmen, under the leadership of new coach Robert Singerman, were shut out in their first match with Walnut Hills, the perennial city champs; but they went on to have their best season in years. Bob Bothwell, playing his third year with the varsity, Fred Hoeffle, Charles Lemert, Jerry Scheele, and Ned Hauss did the major part of the point collecting.

Coach Singerman can be assured of many victories in the future with three experienced netters returning to form the nucleus of next year's squad, and the addition of many fine junior high tennis enthusiasts.

Maroon W raises money to improve gym and locker room

Maroon W, the varsity letter club, sponsored many successful activities this year under the able leadership of Tom Mercer, Chris Rembold, Ken Schroeder, Terry Williams, Tom Wagner, and Mr. Nead, the faculty-sponsor.

The first big event was the Maroon W-Faculty basketball game, played before a full house of partisan rooters in the new gym. The Maroon W club, although having sometimes six or seven players on the floor, lost by one point in a thrilling overtime contest.

The always popular Dream of Maroon and Cream Dance, absent from West Hi's social scene last year, was held in March. Walking away with "Dream" honors was Nancy Philipps, who received a beautiful Maroon W lavalier.

An ice-skating party at the Gardens, a stag party, and a fun-filled outing at Coney Island were some of the other club affairs. With funds gained from some of these events Maroon W helped to improve the gym and locker room facilities.

By lending this helping hand to future school generations and by the benefits received from the competition afforded by inter-school athletics, the boys of Maroon W will be better prepared to go out into the world.

"Nursery Nonsense" proved to be good sense and fun when the Girls' Athletic Association staged their first party of the year as a prelude to the membership drive. At this time the members of the board explained the purpose of the organization—to arouse an intelligent interest in all sports and games, to establish student leadership, to foster good sportsmanship, to promote health, and to create a spirit of fellowship among students.

To add gaiety and fellowship to the Christmas season, G.A.A. held a party with the traditional tree, Christmas Carols, and jolly Old Saint Nick.

The chief money-making project of the organization was the selling of apples during the after school sports program. The proceeds from these projects were returned to the girls in the form of awards at the annual banquet which was a fitting climax to a year filled with good times, good friends, and good sportsmanship.

G. A. A. promotes

In order to give the girls basic training in sportsmanship, Jr. G.A.A. acts as a stepping stone to the senior division. The fashion shows, parties, and meetings build up interest in this fine organization. These girls realize the importance of taking an early interest in sports if they expect to earn their six-year letter. The officers, Barbara Tuerck, Ann Patton, Janet Neihaus, Marty Geldrich, Shirley Rothaas, and Diane Brater, are seen at the left reviewing the historian's book.

Windblown hair and clashing sticks—that's HOCKEY

Three o'clock! Hockey takes over when school lets out. Who's this behind a pile of books and loaded with shorts, sweat shirts, and plenty of energy? Oh! It's a poor unsuspecting hockey player on her half-mile journey to Oskamp's Playfield. As she trudges along Glenway Avenue, progressing very slowly, who should honk . . . and pass her by but her so-called friends who make the trip by auto. Finally in the distance what to her wondering eyes should appear . . . but the Oskamp shelter house . . . she's finally here. Now the hunt begins. Shin guards! Hockey sticks! Tunics! There must be some left! Here they are in the corner right where they should . . . not be. The whistle! Oh, my goodness, the game must be starting! Gail Oberman, Charlene Robinson, Marcina Quimby, Mary Lu Sievers, Carol Kraus, Barbara Hendrixson, Carole Bierbaum, Marcella Bose, and Janice Ose will be late since they're still in the dressing room. F.T.O. (Fake Them Out) That fullback! She pushed me right in the mud. Oh well, it was worth it. We won the game! Full of enthusiasm over a hard-earned victory our hockey player drags herself home, tired but satisfied.

This girl is a typical West Hi hockey player whose goal is being selected as a member of the advanced team. The qualities which all these girls have in common are outstanding ability and the love of the game. The invaluable experience gained by membership on the advanced team is cherished by each player. Class teams are chosen toward the close of the season from the best players of each grade. These teams then play each other for the school championship. This year the seniors were again tops in this competition.

The outstanding events of the season are the Hockey Playday which was held this year at Withrow High School, and the Annual Hockey Supper. At the playday the girls displayed their good sportsmanship and fighting spirit. This year West Hi's teams brought the season to a glorious close by capturing first place. They celebrated their victory at the Hockey Supper which was, as always, a gala occasion.

Added to the excitement of the supper was the tense moment which came just before Janie Hughes was announced Hockey Manager for the coming year, a season which promises to be full of excitement and victories.

How in the world did this get up there? Who was using a birdie to play basketball? This happens often during a badminton tournament. It's easy to hit it up there, but just ask Nancy Mink, Janet Avey, Joanne Melillo, Burton Osborne, and Judy Myers how hard it is to get it down.

The success of the tournament was proved by the vast number of girls who came out to compete for the trophy.

Janet Avey proved her ability by winning the sophomore title. The junior and senior girls played late in the spring, and the winners were announced at the banquet.

Miss Pat Davis and Burton Osborne, our manager, will agree that the popularity of badminton is increasing each year.

The Modern Dance Class, under the direction of Miss Oberman, presented their interpretation of "The Barefoot Contessa" at the Dance Symposium which was held at New Woodward High School. This dance was then repeated for the Girls' Week Assembly here at West Hi.

During the year the girls learned new techniques and had the opportunity of putting them into practice.

The gracefulness of dance and the skill of bowling provide variety

Bowling in recent years seems to have become quite a popular form of recreation for West Hi students. This year is no exception as can be seen in the picture of the girls' intramural bowling at Waltz's Bowling Lanes in Cheviot. At Waltz's you will always find cooperation and friendly people. Also, to let you in on a secret, "Girls are better bowlers than boys."

Basketball participants learn sportsmanship and team work

"Zip! Zip! Zip! West Hi made a basket! Hoorah!" This cry echoes throughout the gym in the winter months. Since the girls now have their own gym, more time may be spent to perfect their game. Each forward receives a personal thrill when her ball slips through the basket, but the guards feel rewarded when they take that ball away.

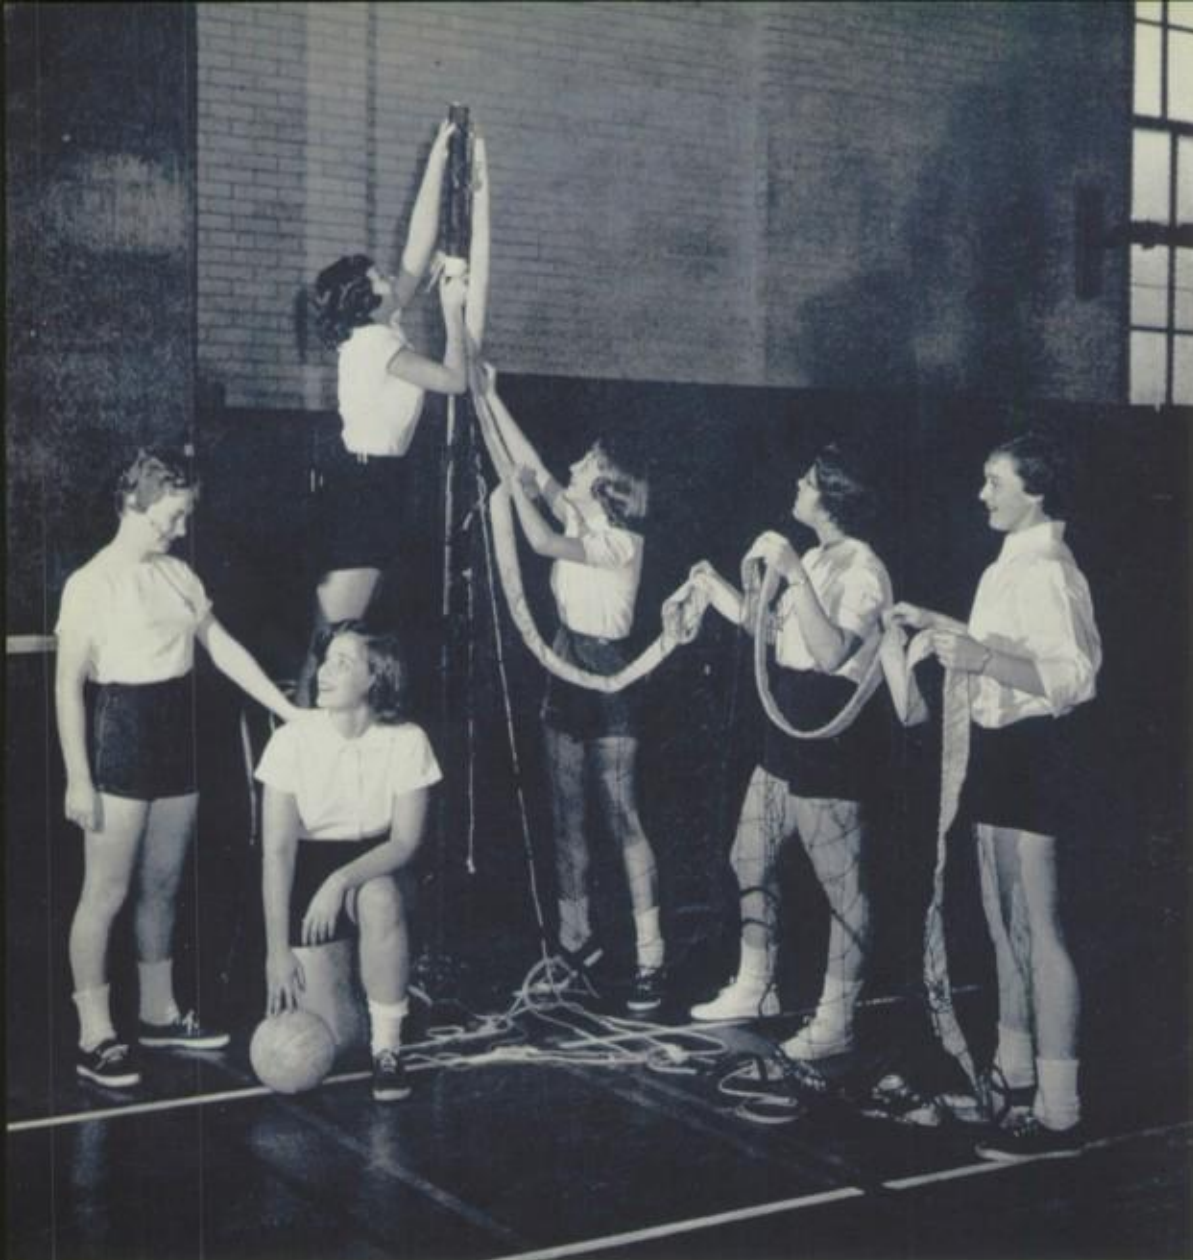

From the intramural teams, girls were chosen to be members of the Advanced Team. On Fridays, upon passing the gym, one could see these girls engrossed in a fast moving game or practicing individual techniques.

This year West Hi was proud to be host to the other public schools for the Basketball Playday.

The season was brought to a close with the annual Basketball Supper. Coach Davis announced the Honor Team, who are the top players of the Advanced Team. Clair Kinnemeyer then threw the basketball to Jean Tuerck. This is the manner of passing down the managership of the sport.

Volleyball provides fun and enjoyment during the winter months. The girls on the left are fulfilling their job as "keepers of the nets."

When the cold winds have passed and Mr. Sun smiles again, arrows are heard winging their way to the bulls-eye. That is, if the archers are able to string their bows. What you girls need is a man!

Tramp! Tramp! Tramp! The girls are hiking! They're on their way to Mount Airy Forest! But the "Happy Wanderers" at the left seem to have lost their way. Never mind, they'll soon catch up with the crowd on the G.A.A. annual fall hike.

Marilyn Kuhn, Suzanne Shipley, Kay Nunneker, Mary Lee Leibbrook, Marcia Nieman.

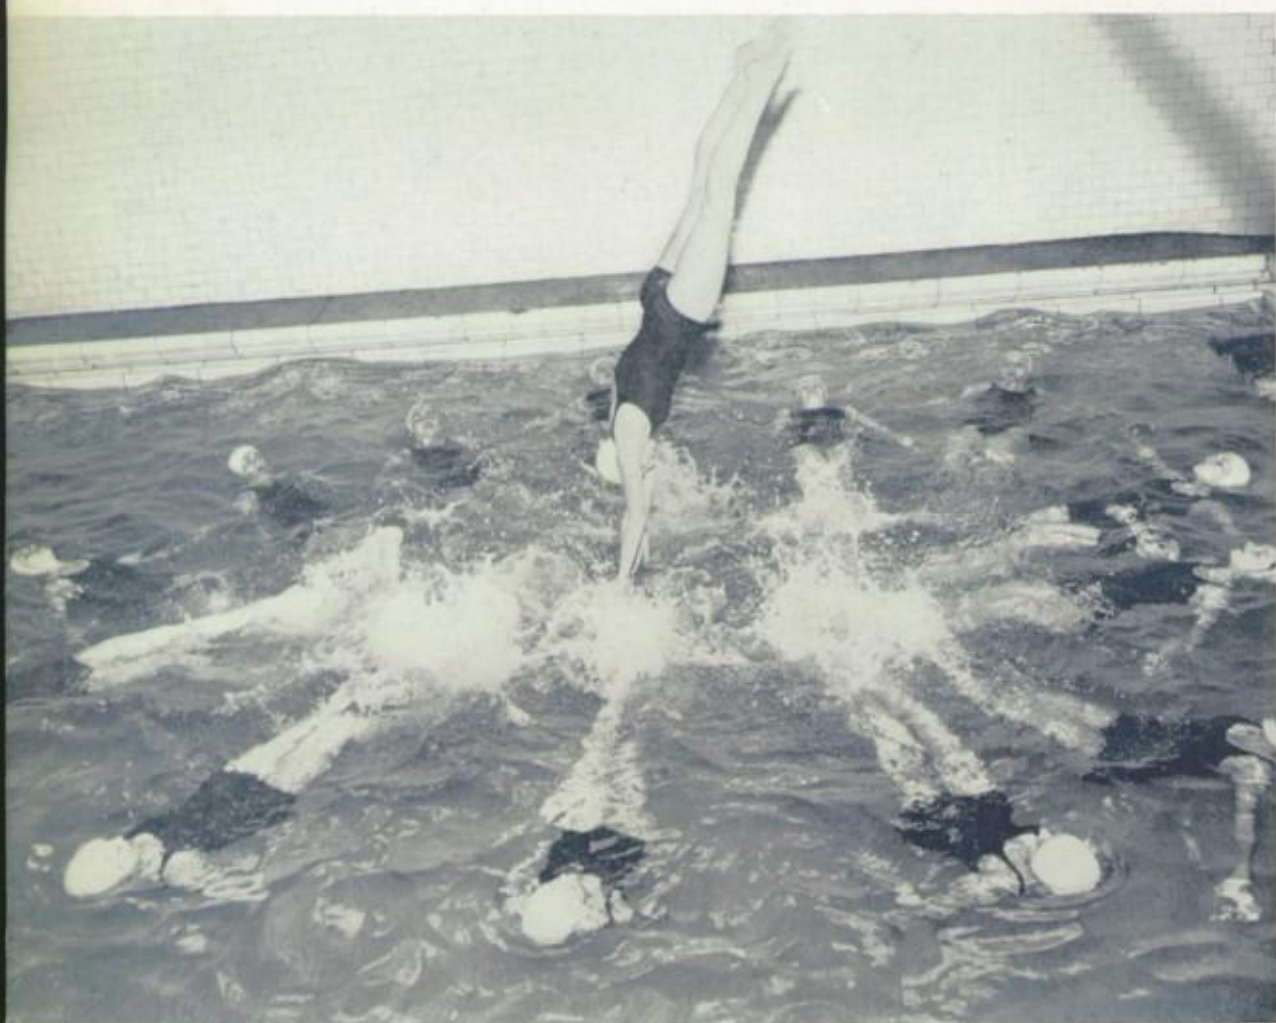

Hiking and Ping Pong furnish pleasant pastimes

This winter the sound of ping pong balls echoed constantly throughout the gym. Dotty Jarvis was the happy singles' winner, and she also teamed with Marcia Nieman to capture the doubles' crown. A new feature this year was the initiation of a co-recreational ping pong tournament, won by Annette Strothman and Bob Bothwell.

Swimming is the year-round sport of West Hi. It begins with lifesaving instructions in the fall. Those particularly outstanding in swimming ability and in performing the rescue techniques are chosen as members of the lifesaving corps. They, with Miss Witte, coach, and Judy Craig, manager, instruct the after-school classes. With these lifesavers around, no one will drown!

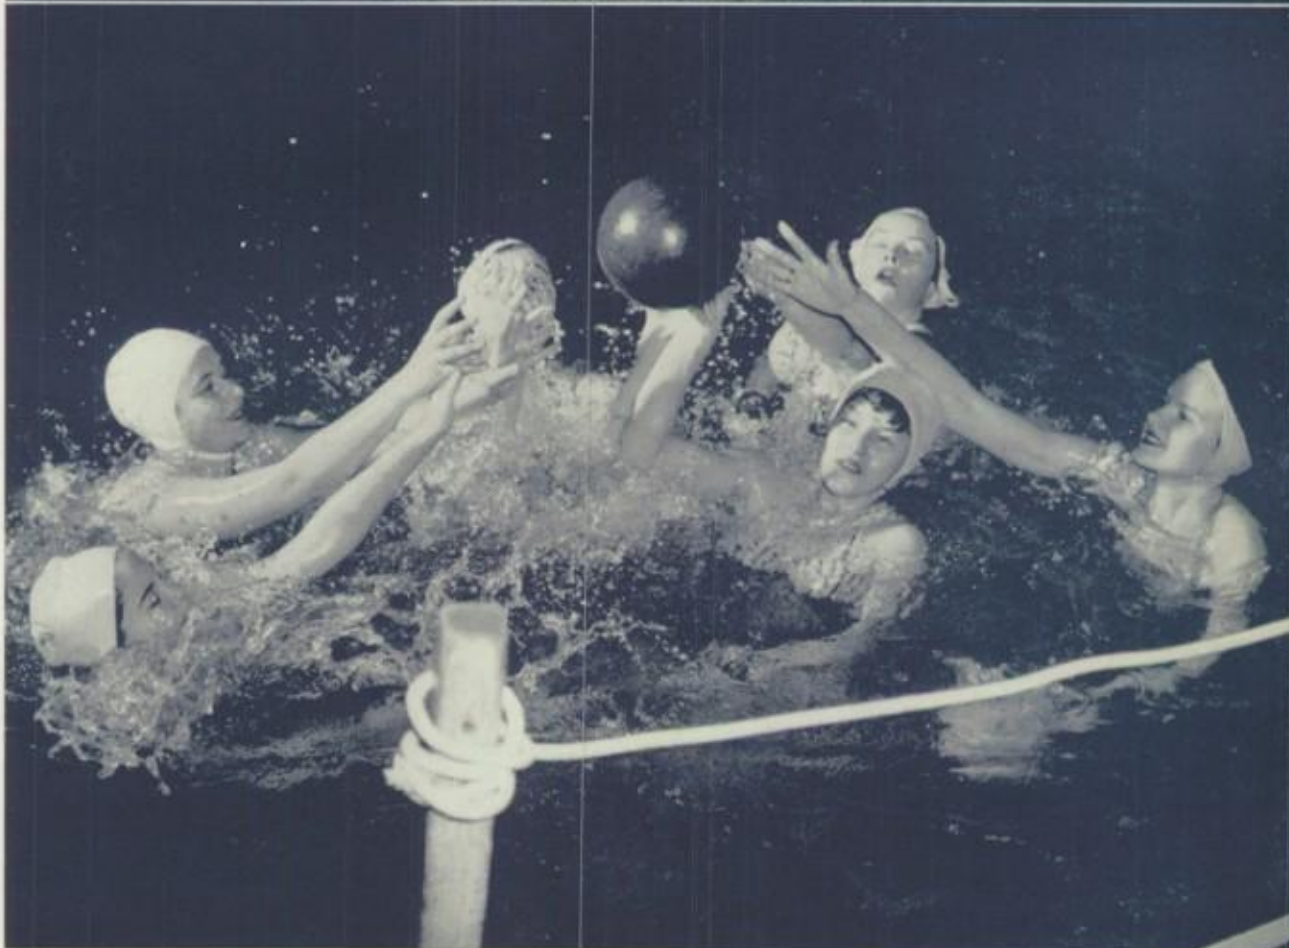

Next, as the year progressed, lessons in synchronized swimming began. Following the instructions of Miss Obermann, the girls learned and perfected dolphins, kips, and sausage dives, but the specialty was the ballet leg! Then, to display their newly acquired skills, in late spring, they presented a water pageant entitled "Our Happy Year." In this way the swimming season was brought to a successful close.

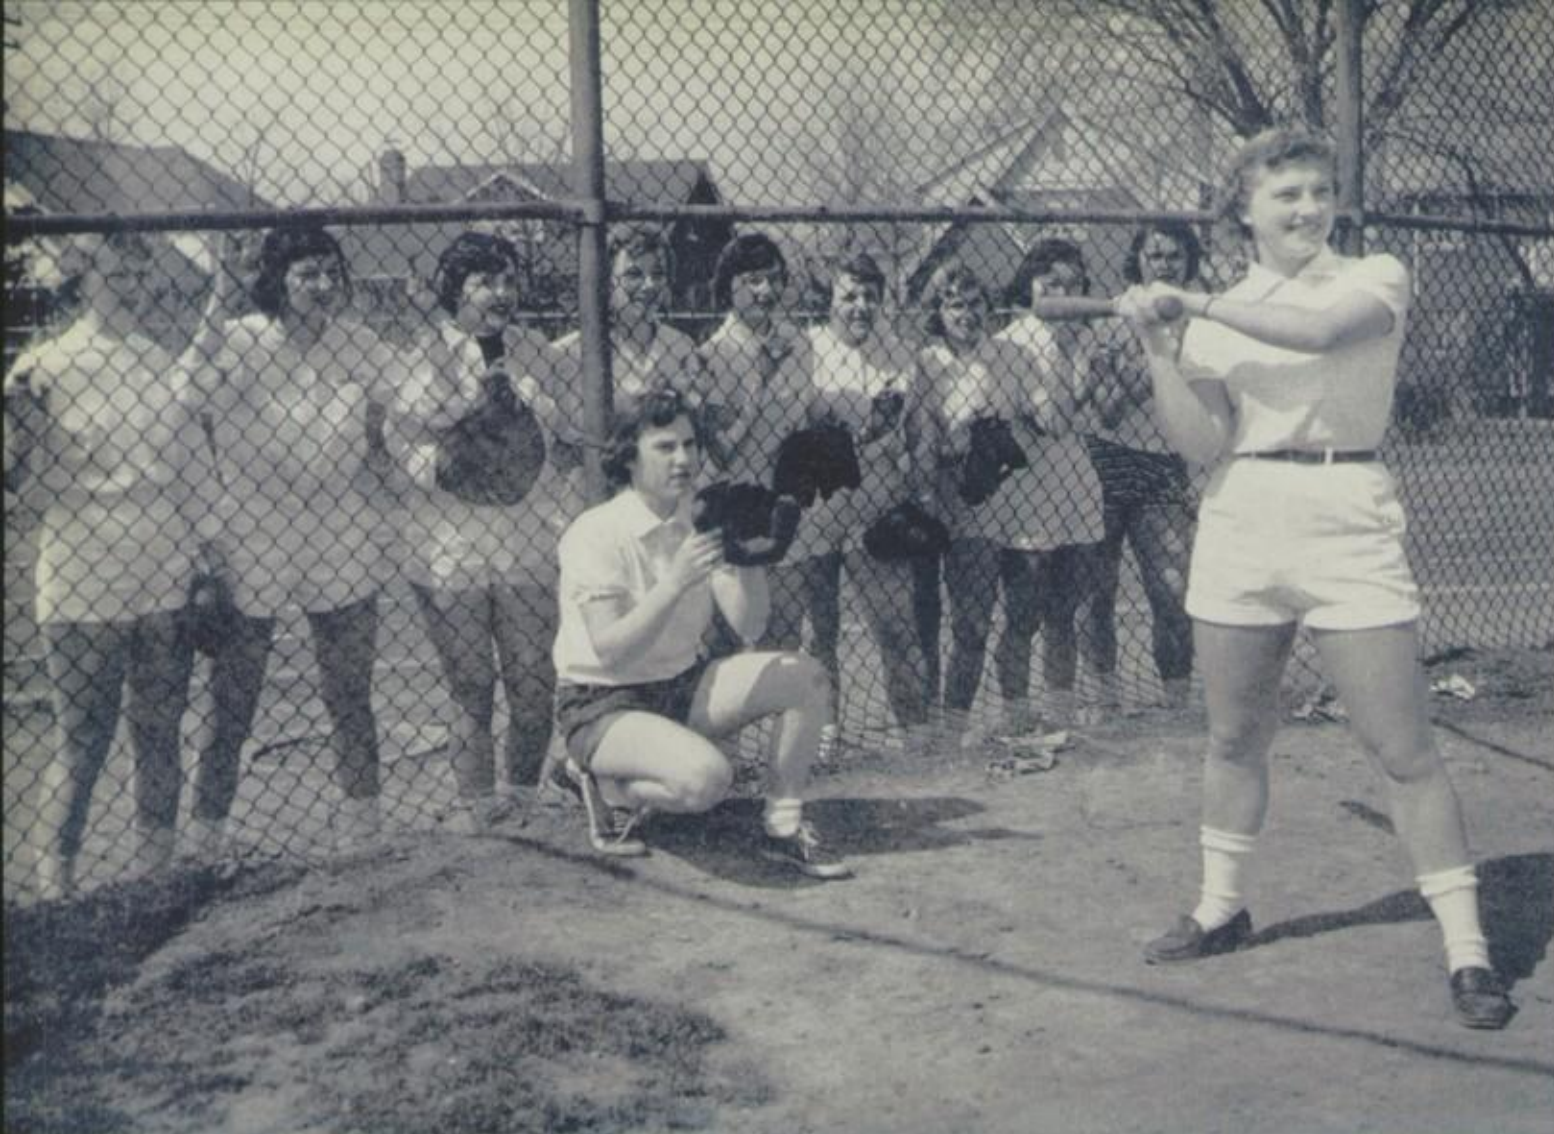

Swimming provides year-round enjoyment

Springtime brings swim meet time, and for weeks before, the girls practice industriously. It seems that their practice this year really paid off. Carol Brech, winning, tied the record with a speed of 10.9 seconds, and first place in the twenty-yard free-style. The team of Elaine Kettlehut, Ann Patton, Barbara Tuerck and Virginia Vornheder broke a previous record while swimming the eight hundred yards in 49.3 seconds. These girls are demonstrating the proper use of the flutter-boards in developing a good fast kick, one of the important reasons for their victories.

When spring comes to the swimming pool, the girls come to water polo. Nancy Philipps, Sally Heidrich, Bonnie Craig, Penny Giebel, Judy Richardson, and Eileen Jones are enjoying this rough, fascinating game, of which the object is to score by throwing the ball over the rope marking the goal line.

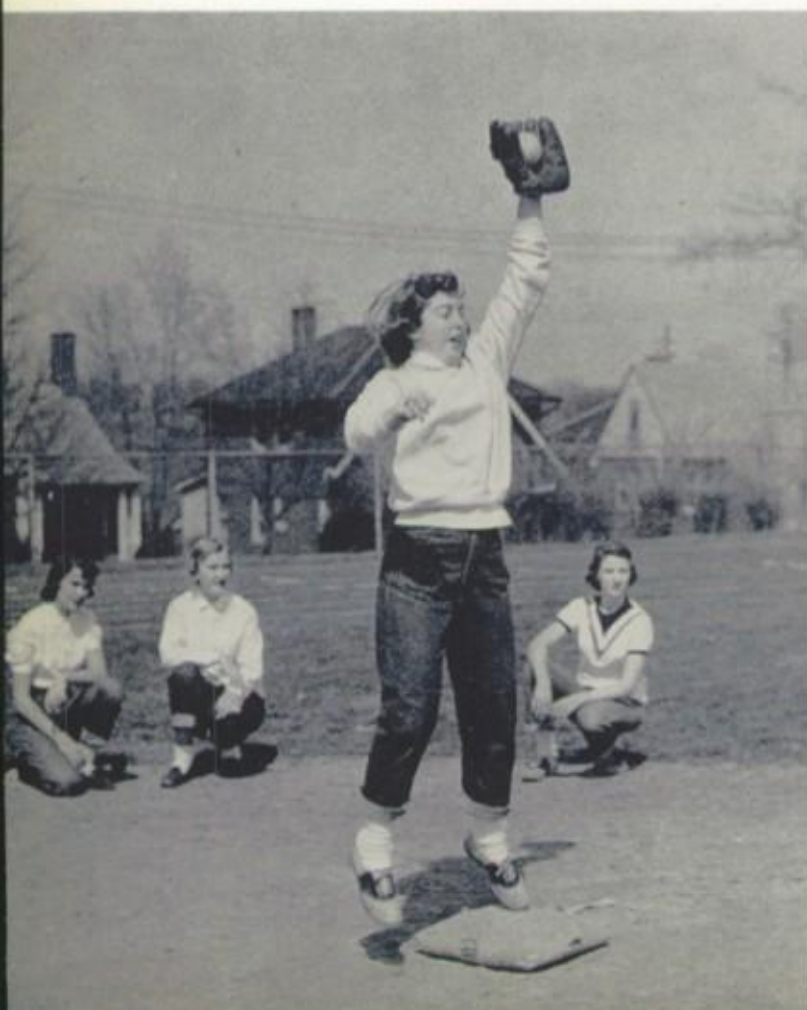

C. Meyer, R. Vogt, J. Mellilo, V. Miller, S. Gildehaus, P. Maisch, N. Reeder, E. Yamaguchi and S. Gysin watch fellow advanced team members, C. Kinnemeyer and J. Pfaff enjoy a practice game.

Baseball makes a bit with West Hi's sports-minded girls

S. Lewis makes a nice catch as C. Postel, M. Mercer, and S. Flamm are interested spectators.

Janet Reibel, manager, and Mrs. Schneider, coach, take an inventory of the baseball equipment.

Girls participate in sports—just for fun

Many girls come out for sports, "Just for Fun,"—and why not? One of the chief purposes of a sport is to provide an opportunity for girls to have fun—together! In G.A.A. the slogan, "the more, the merrier" really has a meaning. Everyone knows that fun is contagious and is something that has to be shared.

Playdays are wonderful sources of enjoyment, and the good times on the bus are almost as exciting as the game, itself. What is that bus driver doing with lipstick all over his face? He must have been caught in a friendly game of "pinchy-winchy." The seniors always seem to get the back seats even though they often have to fight for them. Carol Little, Bev Barker, Steph Gildehaus, Sandy Bierbaum, Leisel Larman, Joyce Miller, Mae Birkenmaier, Angie Bolino, Lois Holder, Gloria Bitsoff, Darlene Goosmann, Nancy Reeder, Annette Strothman, and Evie Yamaguchi are seen enjoying one of the privileges that come with being a senior.

The game is over and refreshments are sorely needed. Winners and losers alike enjoy a slice of red, ripe watermelon. Gwen Cope, Shara Burt, Joyce Klosterman, Alice Winn, Dotty Lanier, and Carol Kraus are racing to be the first one finished! But girls, what did you do with those seeds?

"Hey, wait a minute. I don't wear a size 42!" Such is a familiar cry which might be heard at the towel cupboard. Joan Kohne, Colleen Corcoran, and Barbara Keller are patiently waiting to pick up a "fluffy, white" towel. The girls had many good times while preparing to enter the "ole swimming hole."

YEARS FOR GROWTH

Finale
Presto

Six glorious years, six years crowded with new experiences, wonderful friends, days for study, time for fun—these are our high school years. Seventh grade, eighth grade, ninth grade—the years tread in rapid succession until suddenly the wonderful expanding Years for Growth have come to a close.

New A and B week program is baffling to everyone

Two teachers, a manual, and the bulletin case don't seem to be able to solve Gary's problem. Is it A week or B week? Are we following Tuesday's schedule or Wednesday's? Is it first or second bell? Gary Wakeman isn't getting much help from the teachers, because Miss Kolks is positive that we are following Tuesday's schedule for B week and it is second bell; and Mr. Fread is just as sure that we are following Wednesday's schedule for A week and it is third bell. Many words after this picture was taken, it was discovered that both were almost right, for the junior high and the senior high had different schedules. Gary wasn't the only one who was confused.

One morning a teacher and her entire class were found wandering through the halls in search of a classroom. Overlapping programs had brought two classes where only one classroom existed! Kinks like this were eventually eliminated, however, and now we go merrily along with only occasional casualties. Even seventh graders manage to arrive where they should be.

The activities at Western Hills take a serious note as Thanksgiving spreads her spirit over us. We share with others that which we have. Here, John Babbs presents the Thanksgiving baskets of Western Hills decorated in lavish fashion.

"Let's go, West Hi, let's go . . ."
It doesn't take much more than these hopeful faces, seen cheering at all reserve and junior high games, to encourage the teams to victory. Here, we see Carol Cottingham, Billie Kaemmerle, Marlene Chinn, Judy Tieman, and Pat Ligget, our eager junior cheerleaders, hoping a basket will be made.

Ah, ah, Chris—let's not go overboard just because you're Sweetheart King of the Student Council Sweetheart Dance. 'Course we don't blame you, Karen makes a mighty sweet and pretty Sweetheart Queen. All in all, the Sweetheart Dance was a jolly event.

Rush, rush, and hurry, hurry, get the paper out on time! The staff of the Hi-Junior, our new junior high newspaper, find running a paper keeps them terribly busy! The paper contains articles of interest to all students of the junior high school.

Rookies find a new way of life at West Hi

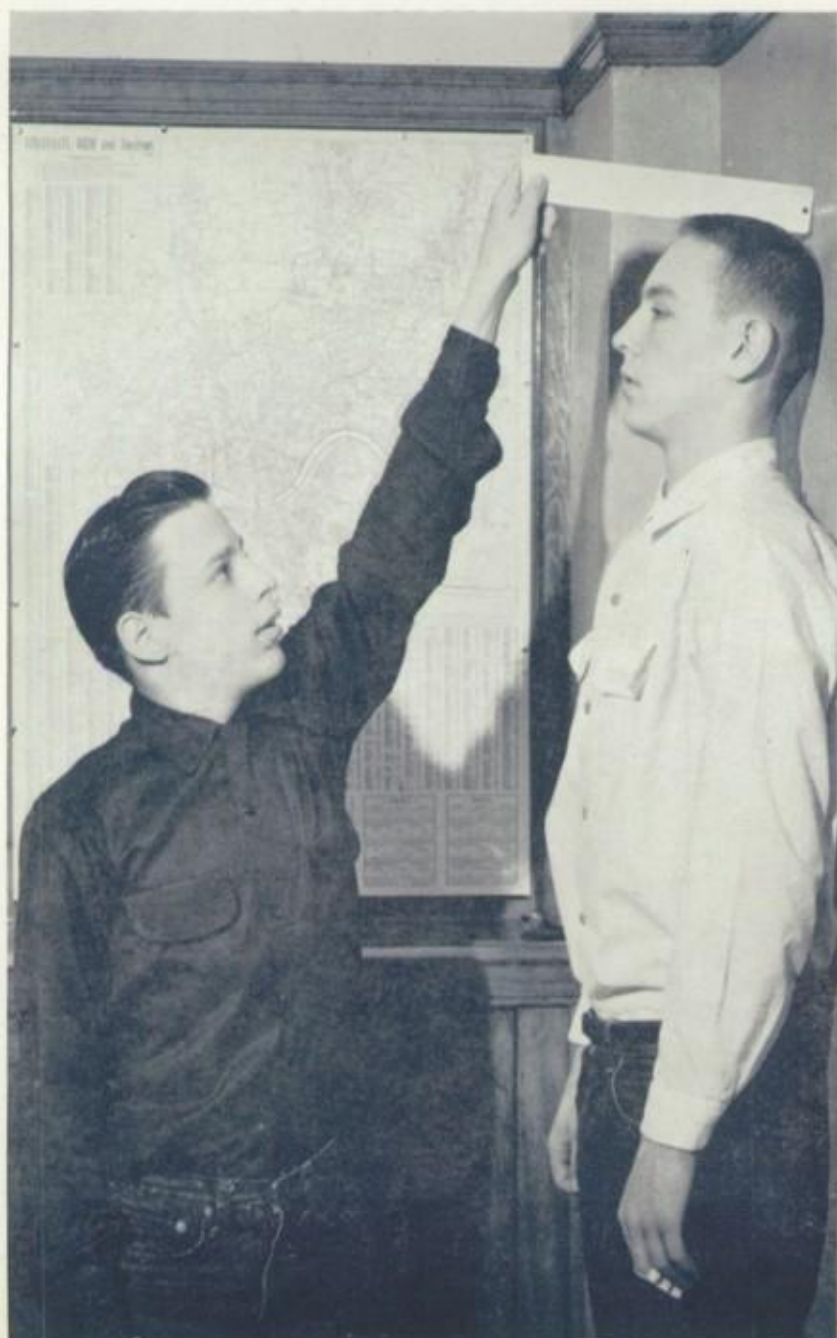

Miss Suter's Social Studies Class.

With hope and expectation, a few of the rookies look at their first report cards. Our newcomers hope for the best, for they have tried to make their initial year at West Hi a success.

Another first for the rookies is experiencing exams. At the left, we see Miss Suter's class struggling through their social studies exam.

No matter how perplexing high school may be, we find, as the year draws to a close, that the rookies have adjusted wonderfully to West Hi and are prepared to take another step forward toward graduation.

Eighth graders form study habits and enjoy new confidence

"Gee! He surely is neat! My hero!!" These are probably some of the comments of West Hi's eighth grade girls as they admire senior Bob Osborne, their football star.

But this is just one of the phases of eighth grade life, for our ex-rookies find themselves in a unique position at West Hi. They no longer are strangers to the big school but now find time to become acquainted with the organization of their school and learn better study habits. They are also busy preparing for an even more fun-packed, exciting, and interesting year as our future freshmen.

Freshmen are glad to be a part of activities at West Hi

Looks like fun! You can be sure it is when these fun-loving ninth grade members of the Business Club get together. Here they are having a swell time at the club's skating party. Although still in junior high, the freshmen are glad they now have the honor of taking part in many senior high activities.

At the left are members of the new Junior Band, which has become a prominent part of the music department this year. Their chief activity was playing for junior high football games.

John Babbs and Jack Kiewit seem to be very interested in buying corsages for their best girls. The boys are sure that the girls will like their corsages, for they come from Carousel Florist, 3413 Harrison Avenue.

Sophomores, juniors and seniors get into the swing of activities

Swing your partner, and on to the next! So, the popular square dance, the Virginia Reel, goes. Cherry Steioff and Bud Meyer are really living it up as some of the other juniors clap in time with the music at the "Shufflin' Shindig," a square dance for the Junior Class. The one hundred and more juniors who attended had a swell time square dancing to the old favorites, watching special entertainment, and filling up with an enormous buffet luncheon. Most important of all, however, it gave the juniors an opportunity to know better the other members of their class, the same girls and boys who had sat next to them in classes from the time they were rookies. The "Shufflin' Shindig" brought together old classmates and left new friends, to create a new unity among the Junior Class, West Hi's class of '56.

Distributing and collecting containers for muscular dystrophy is the main charitable project of West Hi students. Seen helping Mr. Yung, the treasurer of the Muscular Dystrophy Association, are Simrall Combs, Carol Hutchinson, Daine Schaefer, Joe Coombs, and Paul Muntz.

Helping others is a big thing at Western Hills. Putting out Muscular Dystrophy Canisters and collecting them is one way of doing our part. Below, Tom Petry, Kathy Eckert, Joyce Bothwell, David Reeves, Jean Blankenship, Mike McMillan, and Ann Alexander present a play at the Thanksgiving assembly which illustrated well the spirit of that season.

Enthusiasm is evident as passes are sold and cheers rise

Seen buying and selling basket-ball passes are Dave Disser, Ron Noel, Ron Zielinski, Tom Wag-ner, George Ernest, Holly Mott, Don Meador, and Bill Fuldner.

Sophomores enjoy being part of senior high school

Fun, fantasy, and foolishness are the main ingredients of the typical Western Hills sophomore. Another element that goes into the sophomore is that quality of activeness. These qualities were shown by all the sophomores during the past year.

the future with candor

Betty Strunk seems to be having no trouble lifting this easy-to-open "Over the Top" garage door made by the D. H. Willey Lumber Company, 5535 Glenway. What used to be a man's job can now be one for the lady, as Richard Runtz is finding out.

Papa Gino's Pizza Carry-Out at 2411 Boudinot Ave. is fast becoming a favorite spot with the high school crowd, for boys and girls together have been discovering the delicious quality of Italian food. Pizza pie, "Hoagies," spaghetti, ravioli, and spumoni are among the fine foods available at Papa Gino's. The grins on the faces of Bill Edwards, Ben Huff, and Ralph Bolino attest to the mouth-watering qualities of "Hoagies."

Seniors head for last round-up

Wally White, Joyce Miller, Sandy Sprague, Bob Ganzmiller.

The fiddles started playing, hands clapped gaily, and the caller began his repertoire of folk dances. Thus, commenced the "Last Roundup" of the Senior Class of 1955. This year was the climax of much organizing and planning by the officers. President Terry Williams guided; "veep" Sonnie Wallace and secretary Joyce Miller bit their nails; and treasurer Ken Schroder paid the bills! But each and every senior present left with a closer feeling of companionship with the other members of his class. The officers had done their jobs well.

Besides the Roundup, the officers also had many other duties to occupy them. They planned the fun-filled senior breakfast, classday activities, and the conclusion of the year—graduation dance.

Their enthusiasm and ability made all of their undertakings truly successful.

Beauty reigns supreme at West Hi

The crowd waited with eager anticipation as the lights dimmed and the drums rolled. Then, Miss Joyce Miller was crowned Football Queen for 1955 with her attendants Carol Fosnot and Connie Wakeman.

A crown, a bouquet of roses, and a kiss—Nancy Philipps, crowned Dream of Maroon and Cream by Tom Mercer, President of Maroon W, realized the thrill that comes once in a life time.

The candidates stood nervously in a line on the floor and the crowd held its breath as Tom Spackman stepped to the microphone to announce the Basketball Queen of 1955. First he introduced the two attendants, Joyce Gilbert and Carol Hutchinson. Then he stepped forward to crown the new Basketball Queen, Joyce Lutz. Amid the cheers and applause of the crowd he placed a crown of roses on her head and gave her a congratulatory kiss.

At the bewitching hour of midnight, May 7, at the Gibson Roof Garden one lucky "Cinderella" was given a kiss, a bouquet of roses, and a crown to signify her selection as 1955 Prom Queen. This year's honored Queen was charming Sonnie Wallace. Her court, announced at the same time, included Bev Barker and Bev Mursinna. After the announcements were made the Queen and her escort, her court, and all the other candidates danced to the music of Clyde Trask and his orchestra.

Yes, boys, if you are going to go driving around the town, you need gasoline. You're smart to fill up with Tresler Comet for it's economical, gives you more miles per gallon. Happy motoring Esther Casuto, Gordon Greek, and Bob Panuska.

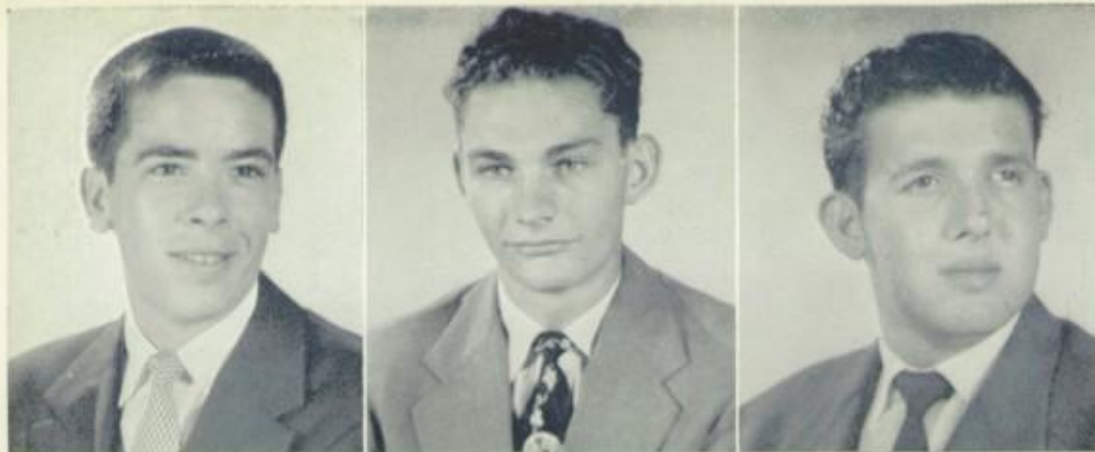

What's so interesting boys? We should all like to know what Ken Schroeder, Gerry Kirsch, Ron Lineback, Harvey Hohnacker, and Ron Lutz find so captivating as they chat in the hall before classes. Please let us in on it, will you?

Bill Backus has no trouble inducing his friends Marcina Quimby, John Clark, Georgia Stewart, Jim Clafey, and Pat Frederick to enjoy their snack at a restaurant decorated by Backus Brothers. Such popular spots as The Old South, Wigwam, Town and Country, Whitehorse, Top O' the Ridge, Maisonette and Gourmet Room were decorated by this nation-wide concern. Why not let them furnish your office or home?

No need to pinch the vegetables and fruits, Miss Klaserner, since only the best quality in produce is handled at Panaro's Fruit Market, 5201 Glenway. Both teachers and students like Mary Sucietto and Alice Winn know this, for they frequently stop in after school.

A few members of the Annual Staff visit the Hen-negan Company and discover what makes the wheels go around in a lithographing plant. Seen here are Dick Simmonds, Andre Ballestra, Karen Springmyer, Florence Wondrack, and Burton Osborne.

Mr. Russel Brown and Mr. Bud Vogt of Hobby Haven, 3522 Warsaw Avenue, are showing the boys, Ken and Norman Stewart, one of their many model airplanes. This one is radio controlled and has its own gasoline engine. The Haven also supplies hobby equipment of all types.

Many young girls plan for the future by attending various nursing schools. Here Marion Klee-man is instructed in the care of a newborn baby at Deaconess Hospital School of Nursing, Straight Street and Clifton Avenue.

"... Some will be chosen for higher privilege ..."

Plato, The Republic

Quiet expectancy pervades the auditorium, for Mr. Cadwallader has announced Cum Laude tapping. Moments of breathless suspense give way to happy applause as each teacher taps and presents his candidate. To be tapped for membership in Cum Laude is an honor conferred on seniors who have maintained a high scholastic average. To be eligible for the first tapping a pupil must have a 3.51 average in 14 academic subjects. In the spring, those pupils with a 3.15 average are tapped.

In the picture above, Miss Bolan presents the gold Keys to the new Cum Laude members.

Mrs. Walter taps Dave Beiser.

You're supposed to enjoy it, Sandy!

Some of us win other honors

Future winners of West Hi honors are pictured at the right. They are members of the "younger set" which is always the center of attraction at the faculty picnic. The potential Cum Laudes who were willing to pose for the photographer this year are Linda and Donna Wuerdemann, Douglas and Gregg Fread, Bruce Nead, Eric Shackelford, and Bill Nead, Jr.; Front Row: Albert Spickard, Jim Huth, and Sally Shackelford.

Don't miss: Vote for Chris! Back Spack!
Don't be a miser. Vote for Beiser!

It was a hectic week for the G.A.A. board members who were matching wits in the campaign for their Mr. Western Hills candidate. Anyone could vote—a penny in the candidate's box was counted as a vote for him.

This annual event is the chief money raising project of G.A.A. and the money accumulated is used for awards given at the close of the year.

This year, the title was given to Chris Rembold, whose sponsor was Sandy Bierbaum. Those in close competition for the title were Terry Williams, sponsored by Joyce Miller, and Tom Mercer with Rhonda Vogt as his sponsor.

"Hi there," says the kiddies of the faculty members.

Fifth Row:

JAMES THOMAS HARRELL—Diversified interests and serious natured, "Happy-Jack."

JUNE BALSLEY—Sunny smile and a lively personality true to one. June stayed with us only a part of the year withdrawing December 3, 1954.

SHIRLEY ROY—Looking toward the future. Shirley also stayed with us a short while in her senior year and then withdrew November 8, 1954.

Members of the graduating class whose pictures do not appear in the annual are as follows: Leroy Atwood, Sylvia Brennan, Jeanie Doan, Ronald Fox, John Getzendanner and Gene Murphy.

Shown in a typical scene at the senior class picnic are Leisel Lahrman, Myrna Hornberger, John Clark, Bob Tarvin, and Carol Snelling.

The last fine days of fun, frolic, and excitement approach

May 31st and what a day it was! The senior outing was at hand and the seniors of the glorious class of "55" were about to hold their last informal gathering.

Amid shrieks of those who had just entered the icy waters of Meadowbrook were shouts of "you're out" and "hole in one" on the midget golf course. The food was good—as a matter of fact too good as many gorged themselves.

All in all, the senior outing provided a grand time for everyone and will surely be remembered for a long time.

These wonderful days we'll never forget

As jubilant seniors make their final journey, some eyes look reluctantly behind, while others look toward the future. All march with stately steps to their seats as the annual commencement exercises begin, but each has his own thoughts.

Some look back wistfully hating to think that these happy, care-free days have come to an end. Others dream of adventure and responsibility in the world of tomorrow. All would agree, however, that the years spent at Western Hills were filled with happy, profitable, never-to-be-forgotten days.

"In the days that are to come, whether they be filled with peace or war, I pray God that I shall never forget the things that I have learned and the friends that I have made here."

Western Hills . . . This Is My School

The Annual Staff of 1955 wishes to express its sincerest appreciation to all who have helped us try to turn out a good yearbook.

To Mr. Russell R. Benson and his assistant, Mr. Duncan Scheidt, thanks for the fine photography and sound advice.

Thanks to the employees of the Publications Department of the Indianapolis Engraving Company for their fine service.

We appreciate the hard work of Norman "Buddy" Shaw and the Benson Printing Company down Nashville way for their fine printing.

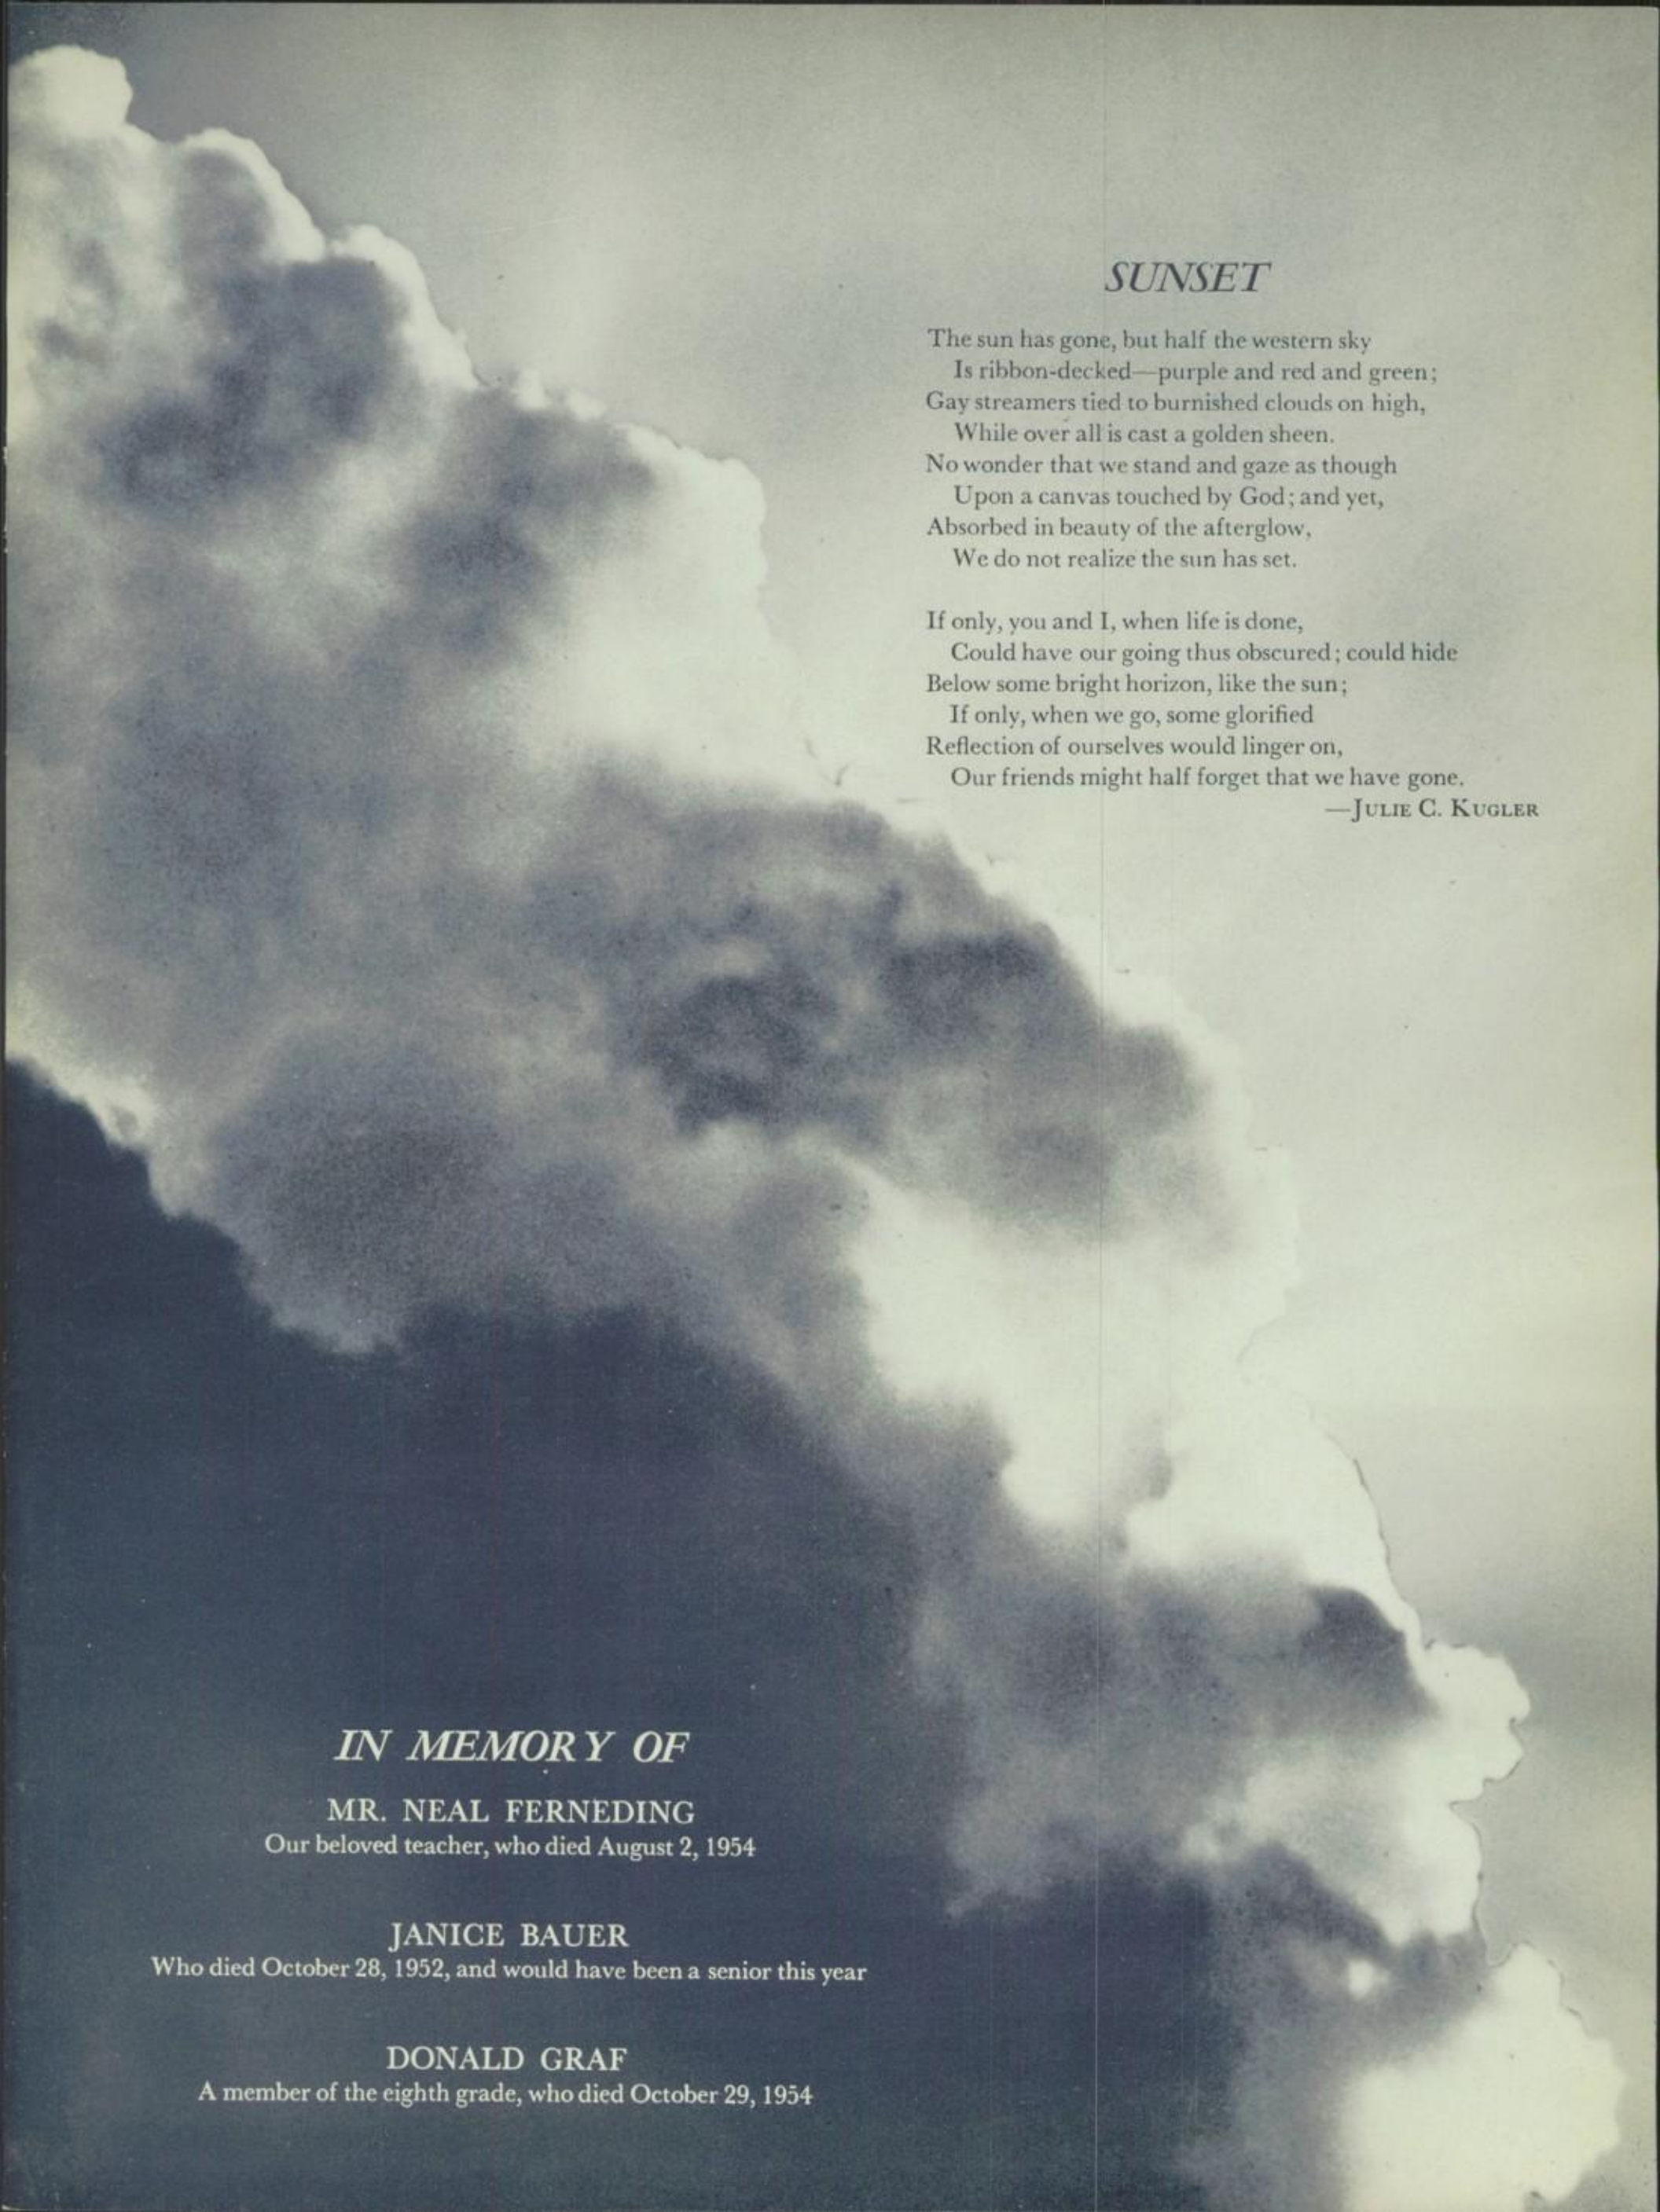

We owe a debt of thanks to Mr. Roy Boeh of Cheviot for our fine senior portraits and his patient catering to our every whim for "on the spot" photos.

The Kingsport Press has again given us satisfaction with our covers.

We wish to thank Mrs. Julie C. Kugler for permission to use her lovely poem "Sunset."

A big thanks to all the faculty of our school for their cooperation and patient toleration of the many interruptions to classroom activity.

Finally, a sincere thank you to Miss Lenora Weber, our adviser, and to Mr. Robert Lowe, our business adviser, for the help and many hours they devoted to the annual.

SUNSET

The sun has gone, but half the western sky
Is ribbon-decked—purple and red and green;
Gay streamers tied to burnished clouds on high,
While over all is cast a golden sheen.
No wonder that we stand and gaze as though
Upon a canvas touched by God; and yet,
Absorbed in beauty of the afterglow,
We do not realize the sun has set.

If only, you and I, when life is done,
Could have our going thus obscured; could hide
Below some bright horizon, like the sun;
If only, when we go, some glorified
Reflection of ourselves would linger on,
Our friends might half forget that we have gone.

—JULIE C. KUGLER
